CARLISLES CAPITALS OF EUROPE: TRASSCO

Public Holds Bag and Taxes Soar.

PARIS July 4.—In these troubled times of intense taxation, citizens of the three big capitals of Europe—London, Berlin, and Paris—find themselves suddenly harried with enormous deficits in the operation of their municipally owned and directed traction systems.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE investigators in a study of some large European cities report that all city traffic organizations, both private and government owned, are experiencing financial distress.

Effect of War Strain.

It was inevitable that the city traction lines would become run down and almost at during the extra strain of the war period when repair and upkeep was impossible owing to lack of materials and labor.

It was equally inevitable that post-war conditions, with higher costs of labor and material and public depression, would drive the private owners to unmanage their wrecked and bankrupt systems to the city governments.

Private Lines Shift Burdens.

Nothing more complex than the doleful picture and the balance sheet dictated by the reversal of fortune on the part of private traction magnates, who, during the fat years before the war, almost could be depended upon to fight municipal ownership tooth and nail.

Now the tune has changed. The private companies, finding themselves over the rocks, immediately endeavor to transfer the burdens to the shoulders of the taxpayers.

While assembling these reports to the Paris headquarters of THE TRIBUNE for foreign news service I was assisted by Arthur D. Mackie, vice president and general manager of the Springfield Consolidated Railway company and the Springfield Gas and Electric company, an authority on traction conditions in Illinois.

The Illinois Situation.

"What is Chicago going to get if the legislature should be called into special session and induced by Gov. Small to permit the municipality to acquire the surface lines?" I asked.

"A lemon," said Mackie. "It simply means unleashing a runaway, untried property on the city. Traction conditions the world round are in worse condition today than for many years."

In Paris and its environs, the surface lines, including tramways and motor buses, jointly have been acquired the city of Paris and the department of the Seine—the latter including a belt of some municipalities immediately surrounding the fortified insularity of Paris proper.

The entire surface system became the property of the city and the department on Jan. 1, 1921.

Now France Tackles Problem.

Eventually, when contemplated experiments are completed, it is estimated that the tramways will extend 1,000 meters and the motor bus lines 10 kilometers. The purchased company will receive annuities to the amount of 25,550,000 francs. The first payment was effected May 1 last, and the final payment is due Nov. 1, 1930.

Exploitation of the new system has been entrusted to a holding corporation, whose share of the capital is 60,000 francs, whereof shareholders have purchased lines have subscribed a majority.

The department of the Seine reserves to itself the right to subscribe potential capital in case of future appropriation. No bonds can be issued without the department's authorization.

The department has the closest supervision over all operating expenses. From the net revenue 6 per cent interest is paid on each share capital of the holding corporation. Dividends over this amount are held for certain provisions.

Fix Credits on Sliding Scale.

Initially, when the shareholders have received 8 to 10 per cent, the department receives 50 per cent of the remainder of the fund, and when the shareholders have received over 10 per cent the department gets 75 per cent of the remainder.

The city of Paris continues to receive the same amounts that the purchase of the lines were paid for electric trams and other facilities.

Paris surface lines—with only a few exceptions—faced serious financial crisis at the moment of their purchase.

AFFINITY SHOOTS WOMAN; KILLS SELF, AFTER ROW

Jealousy and Drink Lead to Tragedy.

Jealousy of a married woman led to double shooting early this morning in which the man is dead and the woman is expected momentarily to die.

At about 2 o'clock a call to the 50th street station apprised the police of a shooting at 4344 Prairie avenue. A squad rushed to the scene, where they found Mrs. Homer Davidson lying on the bed with a bullet in her head. Near by lay Clinton Harper, son of Tom Harper, village president of Dolton, Ill. He also was shot through the head. The victims were taken to the Illinois Central hospital.

In the hospital Mrs. Davidson made a statement saying: "Messe shot me." (Messe was Harper's nickname).

The police learned that Harper, who is 28 years old, recently received a $3,000 award from a railroad for the loss of four fingers. They also learned that Harper and Mrs. Davidson became acquainted several years ago when they lived in Dayton, and that Harper had become infatuated with her.

Quits Work to Spend $3,000.

When Harper received the $3,000 he quit working as a switchman on the Indiana Harbor railroad and came to Chicago, where he began paying assessments to Mrs. Davidson. His arguments persuaded her to leave her husband, who is a fireman on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad. Mrs. Davidson shared the flat at 4344 Prairie avenue with a friend, Elsie Culler, and it is said Harper paid her share of the rent—$30 a month.

Neighbors told of wild parties held in the Prairie avenue flat for the last month since the Culler and Davidson couple moved in. Harper and Mrs. Davidson went to White City last night and on their return had several high balls and then began to quarrel. It is believed the woman's desire to return to her husband was the basis of the row. At any rate, the fatal gun play followed soon after.

Where the Gun Came From.

George Perry and R. A. Reed, who live in the flat above the Culler apartment, said they heard two shots shortly before 2 o'clock and that they ran down and found the Davidson woman lying on the bed. On the floor on the foot of the bed lay Harper. As they entered Miss Culler arrived home taxicab.

Miss Culler told the police the gun was fired by Harper was hers. It had been loaned to her by a friend, Gus Dahlberg, an emergency in the employ of the Pinetown Detective agency.

It was learned Harper during the afternoon had purchased some grapes and that a quantity of it was found in the flat mixed with carbolic acid. The police believe the Davidson woman drank some of the mixture.

HUNDREDS ARE LEFT STRANDED IN MICHIGAN

Several hundred Fourth of July excursionists were left stranded in Steam Harbor last night when the steamer Theodore Roosevelt returned to Chicago, carrying its capacity in passengers. Fifteen hundred persons were aboard.

As a throng almost twice as large as that gathered the vessel in Steam Harbor, and it became apparent that many would be left behind, there was a wild scramble.

Thomas Farley, president of the line, announced that the vessel would return to Michigan later in the night to bring the remainder of the excursionists home. Many slept on benches in the open Harbor parks and in the railroad stations.

HOPE FOR IRISH PEACE RISES AS FACTIONS MEET

Rebels and Unionists Discuss Terms.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, July 4.—Gen. J. C. Smuts, premier of the Union of South Africa, will arrive in Dublin tomorrow, where he will be met by Eamonn de Valera and other Irish leaders. This official announcement is made in Dublin tonight.

BY JOHN STEELE.
Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.
Copyright, 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.

DUBLIN, July 4.—July 4th may become as important a date in Irish history as that in the United States. Today in the historic Dublin mansion house, the official residence of the lord mayor, the first meeting of a series which many believe will bring peace in Ireland, was held on the invitation of Eamonn de Valera, president of the Irish republic.

Mr. de Valera was accompanied by Hugh Griffith, "vice president of the Irish republic," who, although just released from prison, appeared to be in excellent health.

The Southern Unionists were represented by Lord Midleton, former British secretary of war; Sir Robert Woods, Maurice Dockrell, a leading Dublin business man, and Andrew Jameson.

Ulster Not Represented.

Ulster was not represented. Sir James Craig having refused an invitation from De Valera to meet with him in London before the proposed conference.

London was summoned by Prime Minister Lloyd George.

This refusal many believe was due to the phrasing of the letter of invitation and it is hoped Sir James may enter the "all-Ireland conference" preliminary to the London meeting.

The big American flag flew from the mansion house window and over the green municipal flag of Dublin. No "republican" flags were seen but it seemed as if every flag in the crowd of thousands outside the mansion house carried the American flag. No troops or police were in it, but order was kept by members of the "Irish republican army."

At 10:45 a. m., a burst of cheering heralded the arrival of De Valera in an automobile. Just before 11 a. m., Sir Hugh Griffith came on foot, as did Maurice Dockrell and the rest of the Unionists.

To Meet Again Friday.

The meeting was held in the lord mayor's private parlour promptly on and lasted until after 2 p. m. At the close a brief statement was given saying:

An informal conference was called by President De Valera. Views were expressed on the situation created by the British prime minister's proposal. Informal agreements were come to and the conference adjourned until 11 a. m. Friday next."

While every effort was made to keep proceedings secret, it was learned Lord Midleton at once demanded the release of Lord Bandon, the aged who was kidnapped by the Sinn Féin two weeks ago, and De Valera, disclaiming responsibility, promised to do his best. Lord Midleton also made general claims for minority protection in any Irish parliament to be set up.

Smuts' Visit of Importance.

One also understands the Sinn Féin is ready to accept South African union plans for giving later the autonomy inside Ireland. In connection it is significant that Smuts is expected in Dublin in a day or two.

There is little doubt that Prime Minister Lloyd George's invitation finally accepted, but the Sinn Féin will like to have him put on paper offers instead of trying to arrive at a bargain across a table. This, however, will not likely be allowed to in the way of a meeting.

In the end of the conference the nationalists left in a body, they being chiefly cheered by the crowd which had been reciting a rosy picture for the success of the meeting.

A few minutes later De Valera came and steps of the Mansion House and gave a short speech in Irish, saying

HARDING "SPEECH" ON FOURTH IS OF AND FOR U. S. BOY

Raritan, N. J., July 4.—Acting as sponsor here today of a rowboat made by a 9 year old boy, President Harding delivered a Fourth of July oration of single sentence in tribute to the innuinity and aspirations of American boyhood.

The American flag was in place and the boat was loosed the President the United States broke a beribboned bottle of mineral waters across the bows and said:

"As a tribute to American boyhood, no build castles in the air, who build state, and whose achievements in the future will build this country, I christen this boat, the handiwork of the Freelinghuysen, the Raritan."

Then the President, attired almost like a boy himself, in white golf costume, turned to the group of boys gathered on the bank and swapped salutations with them about the fine unions of the Raritan.

Today, for more than two hours, President and Mrs. Harding stood beneath a big maple on the lawn and took hands with a line of visitors.

Early tomorrow morning Mr. Harding will leave by train for Washington. He expects to be back at the desk in the White House shortly after noon.

HOISTS GERMAN FLAG TO HAIL 4TH; NAUS! MISTAKE!

Two flags flying from the front porch of August Gebhardt's home at 45 Carver street, attracted the eye of Joseph Zlotowski, 2047 Carver street, yesterday afternoon. Zlotowski had fought with the tanks, and Gebhardt's flags were flags of Germany.

Zlotowski and a number of boys threw a few freerack at the imperial banners, then yanked one down and burned Gebhardt came out, enraged and fought for battle.

Then it developed that the old man's flag is bad, and that he had intended to put up two American flags. He finally convinced the flags were American. Whereupon he took "Arrawrk! Hawrk! Howsaw boy? Howsaw boy? Hawrk! Hawrk!" It was the voice of the old green parrot in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson at 2124 Bingham street.

The family upstairs took note. Some went to the window, saw a man stumbling into the wind just below, and called the Shakespeare avenue police.

The intruder told Lieut. Joseph Palcynski a tale that was hard to believe.

Lost the Key, He Says.

"I'm a brother of Mrs. John's," he said. "She and Paul, her husband, went away over the holidays, and asked me to take care of the parrot and the canaries."

"Don't make me laugh," said the lieutenant cruelly. "It's too hot. Why don't you open the door? Didn't they leave you the key?"

"Yes, but I lost it. And those birds love to have food and water."

"A lad as clever as you," said the big policeman, "has no business being a burglar."

"But I can prove it all," said the intruder.

"Prove it to the judge," said the lieutenant. "What's your name and address?"

The lieutenant sat back and laughed.

"Prove it by a parrot," he said. "Prove it by a bird that caused his son to die in the patrol. The lieutenant got sick. Officer, throw this cuckoo downstairs. He's getting me over—"

The Parrot Greets Them.

The policeman, however, pleaded so earnestly that the lieutenant finally consented. They went to the Johnson house in the patrol. The lieutenant got there, then Peterson, then a couple of policemen.

"Sawrk!" said the parrot to the hot lieutenant.

"Hello, Polly," said Peterson.

"Hello, Ed," said the parrot. "What good for you on your hip?"

"Fello, Polly," said Lieut. Palcynski, "it still a bit doubtful. 'The bird knows you. But maybe he'll call Ed.' too."

"Try it," invited Peterson.

"Yes I will," said Palcynski.

"Howsaw Polly?"

"Ed the parrot: 'Go to —'"

Whiting Blast

Injures 42; Stills Burned

A tiny gas leak yesterday brought death to at least nine men, injured forty-two others, and caused a property loss of $2,000,000.

The leak was in one of the high pressure stills comprising battery 13 of the Standard Oil company's refinery at Whiting, Ind. It caused an explosion at about 8:15 o'clock in the morning. The still was blown to pieces and all the other stills in the battery caught fire.

It was noon when the fire was put out and the search for the bodies began. It is believed seven bodies are still in the ruins. Officials, however, were not certain as to this.

The dead:

Joseph Paylo, assistant marshal of the company's fire department.
Gus Johnson, fireman.
Fred Harbrecht.
George Dvorsak, laborer.
Frank Stout of Hammond.
Fred Engle, 33 years old, of Whiting.
Joseph Bauda, 30 years old, of Whiting.

Two unidentified men.

Women Besiege Gates.

Twenty-seven men in all were taken to the Passavant hospital. Paylo, Stout, Engle, and Bauda died there. Paylo had been making his rounds when the explosion occurred. All except seven of the twenty-seven left after their injuries had been dressed.

The night shift had left the plant and the day shift had just arrived when the explosion woke the town and sent hundreds of women screaming to the refinery gates, begging for word of their men.

A rule of the company prohibits any except workmen from entering.

All the ambulances in town were called for, and the wounded were rushed at once to the hospital. Thither went most of the women, to stay and weep when they had found those they sought, to go to the morgues when they failed to locate husband or brother or sweetheart or son.

Officials Aid Rescue Work.

Three bodies lay at Hayden's morgue, two at Owens'. Identification had to be made by pairs of clothing that remained unburned, half a shoe that still clung to a foot, a blackened ring in which initials were still discernible.

Dr. George Humphreys, superintendent of the refinery; Walter Bertow of the safety first department, and others aided in the work of rescue.

The company's fire department, despite the death of the assistant marshal and the absence of the marshal, got the fire under control after a few moments without calling for aid.

Lay Blast to Leak.

Officials said the damage to the refinery was incalculable and refused to make an estimate, but it is said the destroyed battery of stills had cost $2,000,000.

"It must have been a leak that started the fire," said Mr. Bertow. "There would explode the still, causing the gasoline being distilled there, and ignite the gasoline in the other stills."

THIRTEEN DEAD, TOLL OF FOURTH ABOUT CHICAGO

5 Drown, 2 Shot, and Autos Kill 5.

Though the Fourth was celebrated in and around Chicago in a generally safe and sane manner, it cost thirteen lives, resulting in the injury of an enormous persons, and led to a panic in a circus in a vacant lot when $1,000 worth of fireworks exploded prematurely.

Two persons were shot to death and another was wounded; five were drowned, five were killed in auto accidents, and a boy was killed in a fall from a window.

Deputy Sheriff Killed.

The dead from causes other than auto accidents are:

R. E. Sherman, deputy sheriff, accidentally shot and killed by his daughter, Mrs. Helen Hubbard, Maywood, at whose home he has lived for fifteen years. Mrs. Hubbard and a party of friends were at target practice, and the shot was fired accidentally from a .22 caliber rifle. Mrs. Hubbard collapsed when told her father was dead, and for a time was in a serious condition.

John Brown Fifer, 10 years old, accidentally shot and killed while playing in his back yard, at 4439 Clifton Park avenue, Louis Wronak, 17, 4431 Clifton Park is held by the police. Johnny's father had told him he could have no fireworks or explosives, and bade him play in the yard for safety's sake.

Harold Kaplan, 5307 Calumet avenue, 3 years old, fell from a window in his home and died in Washington park hospital.

Drownings.

Wayne Matthews, 22, Whiting, Ind., died at Illinois Central hospital in injuries received when he dived into the lake near his home.

Edward Magee, 20, 5400 Harper avenue; drowned at Lake Okaukeche, Wis.

Otis Turner, formerly of Chicago, now living in Milwaukee; drowned in attempt to save Magee.

William Aschburn, 2386 Kostner avenue, drowned at Highland Park beach. He was married last Christmas eve and was 27 years old.

Frank De Goun, 875 Sbor street, 17, was drowned in the inner lagoon of Lincoln park. He had ventured into the water clad in his underwear while his friends sat on the bank and watched. Policeman Carlson of the park force recovered the body.

The Kaplan boy was celebrating his birthday indoors because his parents thought it was too hot for him to be in the streets. He leaned against a green, which gave way. He struck the pavement on his head and fractured his skull. His father, Samuel Kaplan, rushed him to the Washington park hospital, but he died an hour later.

Edward Magee had joined his friend, Otis Turner, at Lake Okaukeche with a party of a dozen young men and women, among them his brother, Philip, 22. In the afternoon all went swimming. Edward dived and failed to come to the surface. Turner dived in attempt to save him and also failed to rise. Philip Magee dived also, but was able to fight his way up again.

Stray Bullet Wounds Man.

Patrick Barrett, 67, was shot in the loamen by a stray bullet at Blue Island and avenue and Maxwell streets. He was at 1116 South May street. He is in County hospital in a serious condition. The police believe some Fourth celebrant fired the shot.

A burning balloon dropped on the canvas top of a merry-go-round at Myne and Armitage avenues yesterday evening and set the canvas aflame. A burning cloth dropped upon a children riding the gay wooden wheels around and around, and when one of the attendants yelled that the outline tank which runs the motor might explode there was a panic.

Parents Almost Cause Panic.

The children on the ponies, and other children in a Ferris wheel nearby, screamed in fear. Mothers rushed to rescue them. The merry-go-round was stopped. Attendants tried to force everybody away, but the parents of the children in the Ferris wheel fought screamed to stay until their children were safe.

It was slow work stopping each case getting the children out, and the fire department had arrived and extinguished the blaze before the last cage was emptied.

The $1,000 worth of fireworks were inadvertently exploded and a stand owned by Forest Park post of the American Legion was destroyed in Forest Park during the afternoon. A cigarette did it.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

The auto fatalities were:

Unidentified woman, about 20, killed by a taxi cab at California avenue and Cortland street. Joseph Mason, 1316 South Monahan avenue is under arrest at the Blakesdale avenue station. The police say he was going north on the wrong side of the street.

Berencie Noble, 8 year old daughter of Nat Noble, 820 Grove avenue, Oak Park.

Charles Simpson, 23, address unknown.

Czeslaw Kotlarz, 734 North Ada street, 10 years old.

Charles M. Smith, 528 Bellefont avenue, Oak Park.

Among those injured by automobiles the only one whose condition is considered serious is Olga Mariotte, 5735 Winchester avenue, who is at Englewood hospital with a compound fracture of the leg, a broken collar bone, and internal injuries. Mariotte was riding a motorcycle near 61st and Wood streets when he was struck by an automobile.

Berencie Noble was killed when her father, turning from Fillmore street into Clinton avenue, Oak Park, swerved suddenly to avoid hitting another car. The little girl was thrown from the rear seat to the sidewalk and killed instantly.

Charles Simpson was instantly killed when a car struck a rut and overturned two miles north of Oconomowoc, Wis. Simpson had gone to Oconomowoc with George Huntley, 2942 Lowell avenue, the son of a broker, who owned the car. With them went John Kennedy, 4808 West Congress street; Cornelius Kerrin, 4619 Western avenue, and Frank Stam. Huntley was not in the car at the time of the accident. Simpson was driving. The other three were slightly injured.

Czeslaw Kotlarz, 10, died of injuries received in an auto accident at Chicago avenue and Ada street on July 1.

Smith, who was 23 years old, died at Robert Burns hospital of injuries received Saturday night. He and Henry Clipp, 710 Marion street, Oak Park, were on the way to Fox Lake when the automobile, driven by Smith, overturned. Clipp is at Oak Park hospital in a serious condition.

ESCAPE HEAT, DROWN

New York, July 4.—Seven men were drowned today at beaches in the vicinity of New York as hundreds of thousands fled from the intense heat that has enveloped the city since Saturday. An unknown man, believed demented by the excessive temperature, committed suicide by jumping into the reservoir in Central park.

A maximum temperature of 83 degrees was reached in the afternoon.

5 Drown; Heat Kills 2.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 4.—Six persons, five of them Milwaukeeans, were drowned and the other killed in an automobile accident during Fourth of July celebrations here and at Waukegan county lake resorts today.

3, Drowning Heat, Drowned.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 4.—Three drownings, several heat prostrations and the highest temperature of the year marked Independence day here. At 2 o'clock this afternoon the thermometer registered 94 degrees.

Noted Evangelist Dead.

Cedar Falls, Ia., July 4.—The Rev. Andrew L. Hauser, leader in state and national affairs of Evangelical association since 1937 and superintendent of the Old People's home, maintained here by the national body until his resignation last fall, died suddenly at Salt Lake City, Utah, Saturday, while en route from California to Cedar Falls.

Cannon Cracker Kills Him.

Denver, Colo., July 4.—Robert Knott, 85, wealthy real estate operator, was standing at the corner of Eighteenth and California streets today when someone threw a giant firecracker at his feet. As the firecracker exploded Knott dropped dead, apparently from excitement.

"FOURTH" ITSELF SETS RECORD AS SAFE AND SANE

Notwithstanding a number of drownings, automobile fatalities and a few casualties from other causes, Chicago's Independence day celebration yesterday was the "safest and sanest" in the city's annals.

Celebrations, picnics, outings, and community affairs were held in every section of the city. Patriotic demonstrations in the afternoon and fireworks set off by trained and careful hands in the evening, made up the program.

One of the largest demonstrations took place at Grand Crossing, Seventy-eighth street and Ellis avenue, where 10,000 persons congregated to witness and take part in parades, singing, pageants, and athletic contests.

Other festivals were held at Sherman park, Fifty-second street and Racine avenue; Morgan park, 111th and Morgan streets; Hamilton park, 72nd and Wallace streets; Independence park, Irving Park boulevard and Avers avenue, and other community parks and suburbs.

Chicago Heights held a patriotic demonstration and parade. Prof. M. S. Szymczak of De Paul university spoke. In the evening the main fireworks displays were at Cubs' park, River-view, park, and in Grant park, where the "Battle of St. Michael" was the feature.

60 CARS STOLEN IN THREE DAYS; COPS ON CARPET?

Sixty automobiles were stolen in Chicago within the last three days. Fifteen have been recovered.

This large holiday business among the car thieves was followed last night by an order to the auto section of the motor division of the police department to report at the Municipal pier this afternoon.

Immediately the rumor of a "shake-up" went abroad. This was denied by Capt. John Naughton, who said the policemen are merely going to receive instructions.

1921 IS REWARDING FIGHTERS

1921 HEAT, 1,524 DEGREES AHEAD, SETS NEW MARK

200,000 Seek 'Coolth' by Plunges in Lake.

With an excess of 1,524 degrees of temperature from January to July, the year 1921 has established the heat record for the last fifty years. At no time since the Chicago weather bureau started keeping data in 1871 has the thermometer held so steadily and so far above normal. The closest year, 1911, does not come within 500 degrees, although it held the record until now for the period between January and July, with a total of 1,045 degrees above normal. Yet there were days in June, 1911, and in other years when the temperature went higher than it has gone this year.

At 3 o'clock yesterday the mercury climbed to 85, the hottest of the day, but it dropped to 83 early in the evening. The weather bureau predicts "cooler" today, with probable thunder showers.

200,000 Find "Coolth" in Lake.

The continued hot wave and the opportunity presented by the legal holiday yesterday drew approximately 200,000 bathers to the lake. Clarendon beach, with 55,000, held the day's record. It was stated that at no time, except perhaps during the hot wave of 1911, had this number been exceeded at this beach.

Highland Park, with approximately 10,000 bathers, also had a record crowd. Crowds of 10,000 or more were reported at 79th street, Oak street, and Diversey beaches, and in Evanston it was estimated at least 15,000 cooled off in the friendly lake. All along the south side the various little beaches at the street and were filled to capacity. It seemed every man, woman, and child in Chicago had a single thought—Wow, but it's hot! Me for the lake.

Five Deaths Laid to Heat. Five deaths, thought to have been caused by the heat, were reported to the police. The dead are: Jonas Joviat, 17 East 61st street; James Mahoney, 1356 East 63d street; Mrs. Mary Miller, 2727 West Adams street; Mrs. Frances Moore, 806 East 44th place; Mrs. Edie Gaventa, 4868 Kenmore avenue. Mrs. Gaventa's death is ascribed to the heat, a glass of wine, and heart disease.

The jam at the city beaches led Chicago residents to seek success by driving to suburban beaches, where they expected to find conditions less crowded. But this led to swift reprimand by the suburbanites. It is alleged by Chicagoans that Wilmette, Evanston, and Winnetka police have been instructed to permit no automobile to park within a mile of a beach. The suburbanites charge the outside machines are causing a traffic jam, while the Chicagoans say it spoils their good time if they are compelled to walk a mile before and after bathing in the lake.

Crowd Forest Preserves. The forest preserves were visited by such numbers that assistant foresters and caretakers were unable to make an estimate. All of the trails from Palatine to Chicago Heights were thronged, every road leading to the several districts was congested by motorists, and other thousands found their way into the great groves to surface cars and about.

Think This Over. The hot weather is a disposition wrecker, but think what would have happened if those 1,524 degrees of excess temperature had not been judiciously distributed between January and July, but had all come in one day. That place that is hotter than this.

Watch for the "cooler"—the weather bureau says it's coming.

Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in Chicago for week ending Saturday, July 2, on shipments sold out ranged from 7.50 cents to 16.50 cents per pound and averaged 12.97 cents per pound.—Advertisement.

HOW CHICAGO BEATS ITS HOTTEST SUMMER

All Chicago that was able splashed right into the lake yesterday and stayed there, keeping cool. The crowds at all the beaches nearly smashed the high record of 1916, when the weather also was terrifically hot. Weather bureau records show that this summer thus far is the hottest in the city's history, although the record for heat on individual days has been higher. The picture shows the huge crowds that gathered yesterday at the Oak street beach to frolic in the water and on the sands—but mostly in the water.

WASHINGTON NEWS—IN BRIEF—

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 4. Unless President Harding takes immediate steps to withdraw American troops from the Rhine, in consequence of the declaration of peace, a resolution will be offered in the senate instructing the secretary of war to bring the boys home.

Despite Secretary of Commerce Hoover's opposition Senator Norris will press his bill to create a $100,000,000 corporation for the financing of agricultural exports, as a means of alleviating conditions among the farmers.

The senate investigating committee has heard testimony showing not only insanitary conditions and inefficient care in the hospitals to which disabled ex-service men are sent but inhuman treatment of the patients.

Former Assistant Secretary of War Crowell, on behalf of the Army Ordnance association, of which he is president, protested against the Shields bill to prohibit transportation of revolvers on the ground that it would put out of business manufacturers of weapons necessary to the army for national defense. Senator Shields replied his proposed law would greatly reduce the number of homicides and would not interfere with the manufacture of army weapons.

STUDENT FROM JUGO-SLAVIA, ILL, ENDS OWN LIFE

The depression that came with hot weather and the realization that he would never be well again was too much for Slavo Srepele, 21 year old student from Jugo-Slavia. Yesterday he shot and killed himself in the home of his cousin, Mrs. Zola Blankin of 4722 Woodlawn avenue.

The suicide followed a merry auto ride along the boulevards. In the party were Brank Lazarevich, consul general for the Croatians, the Slavs, and the Jugo-Slavs; Dr. and Mrs. Antonio Blankin, Miss Marie Leschnig, and young Srepele.

Srepele was a victim of tuberculosis.

Here is a view of a small section of the huge crowd in line at Diversey beach yesterday to get bathing suits and join in the city's big splash. They stood for many minutes in the blaze of the sun just for that chance to dip into the cool waters. (TRIBUNE Photos.)

MEXICO EXCITED BY 5 WARSHIPS OF U. S. OFF TAMPOCO

Mexico City, Mex., July 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—The appearance of five American warships at Tampico yesterday of "five armored vessels comprising part of the United States Atlantic fleet" is described today by the Tampico correspondent of El Democrita as having produced a great sensation. The vessels cast anchor just outside the three mile limit and gave no intimation as to the cause of their visit, but El Democrita says it believes the vessels are engaged in maneuvers and declares their presence should not cause any wild speculation.

Plane to Chase Planes Asked by Police Here

The Summerdale police decided to apply for the first airplane of a fleet which they propose for the Chicago department. "We have just received a complaint from Frederick P. Bassett, 6246 Kenmore avenue, that planes are flying dangerously low over the neighborhood," said one of the men at the station. "What chance has a 'flat-foot' on his back got to stop one of those things a couple of hundred feet in the air?"

BARES INSIDE WORKINGS OF BIG AUTO THEFT RING

Confession Gives Names of Leaders.

The inside workings of one of the most perfectly organized bands of automobile thieves in the country and the names of several of the ringleaders, said to be well known, were contained in the confession of James Morgan, arrested Sunday night while riding in a stolen auto.

With a woman who says she is his wife, but who will give no further information about herself, Morgan was questioned by Detective Sergeants Madden and Woodrich at the detective bureau for several hours yesterday. Finally he broke down and told the whole story.

Stole 50 Cars, He Says. He said he has stolen more than fifty automobiles in the last few months and received an average of $200 per car.

The stolen cars were shipped to Cincinnati, where they were remodeled and put on the market. He gave the names of over a dozen men who are the "brains" of the business.

Morgan said his correct name is James Knowles and that he lives in Cincinnati. He has been in the employ of the outfit for several months but was willing to make a clean breast of the whole affair if the police would be easy with the woman arrested with him.

Seek Men Named. The police immediately began a search for the members named, and at midnight arrested Louis Matthews, who is said to live on the northwest side. He was riding in an auto with a friend at the time of the arrest. The police say the auto was a stolen one.

CROWD TRIES TO MOB WATCHMAN WHO SHOTS GIRL

Bullet Fired at Boy on a Bicycle Hits Woman.

A watchman who had shot and perhaps fatally wounded a girl yesterday was rescued from an angry crowd by four policemen after the building in which he had taken refuge had been stoned and several men had attempted to batter their way in.

The watchman is Henry Norman, 56 years old, living at 3249 North Clark street. He is employed as a guard at the manufacturing plant of A. Nelson company, manufacturers of automobile parts at 2700 Southport avenue.

Two versions of the cause of the shooting are told. One is that some boys were riding bicycles on the sidewalk in front of the plant and that after Norman warned them several times to stop without avail, he drew his revolver and fired. According to Norman, the boys had been throwing firecrackers at him and he fired into the air to frighten them.

Miss Catherine Demple, 20 years old, 2647 Southport avenue, was standing in front of her home, across the street from the plant, with her 4-year-old brother, Joey. She was struck in the forehead by the bullet and fell to the sidewalk.

Dozens of persons saw the shooting. They rushed for the watchman, who led into the building and bolted the door. Several persons climbed to the roof and attempted to enter through skylights, while others stoned the place.

A riot call was sent to Town Hall police station. Detective Sergeant Brooks, Ahlman, Peterson, and McGurn rushed to the scene in a fluster. At the points of guns they forced their way through the crowd besieging the watchman.

Norman was more than willing to go with the officers. The detectives hurried him through the crowd amid cries of "Get a rope!" "Lynch him!" After the prisoner was placed in the police automobile the angry crowd attempted to overturn the car, but was cowed by the officers' threats to fire if they didn't disperse.

Miss Demple was taken to the Chicago General hospital, where her condition was said to be critical. Norman was taken to the Sheffield avenue station.

LAKE VIEW MAIL ROBBER NABBED AFTER A CHASE

George Jackson is under arrest at the Sheffield avenue police station charged with robbing the Lake View branch of the postoffice of two sacks of registered and insured mail and a suitcase full of clothes that had been mailed parcel post.

Jackson, a colored man, was captured early yesterday in the alley back of the postoffice, at Belmont avenue and Herndon street. Two policemen, notified he was there, had chased him. Detective Sergeant Charles McGurn was standing at the other end of the alley, and the fugitive ran into his arms.

The police say Jackson has confessed he and three others had planned their way into the postal station. Jackson said he did not know the names of the others and refused to tell where he lived. Neither of the bags had been broken open. Postoffice Inspector Fahy, after an investigation, fixed the amount of the recovered loot at $300.

Plan $5,000,000 Fund for Development of Palestine

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 4.—Resolutions affecting the development of Palestine and involving an expenditure of $5,000,000 were adopted by the Palestine Development league at its closing sessions here today. The league's membership is composed of the minority group of the Zionist organization of America. The development program called for a wholesale co-operative corporation, building and loan associations, industrial corporations, a farm loan fund and construction corporations.

Dissension Divides Spain's Cabinet; Collapse Expected

MADRID, July 4.—Ministerial dissensions manifested themselves at today's cabinet council. Manuel Aguiar, minister of finance, tendered his resignation, insisting that the new tariff and commercial treaties were prejudicial to the interests of labor. Other ministers intimated their desire to quit the government.

BELGIAN RULERS REACH ENGLAND ON STATE VISIT

LONDON, July 4.—Albert, king of the Belgians, and Queen Elisabeth arrived in London today for their first visit of state to England. The royal couple were attended by a numerous suite, including Premier H. Carton de Wiart, the Belgian premier.

They were met at Dover by the Prince of Wales and at the Victoria station here by King George, Queen Mary, the Duke of York, and Princess Mary.

Accompanied by the household cavalry, the royal party drove through cheering crowds to Buckingham palace, where a banquet was given tonight.

This afternoon's program included the placing by the royal visitors of a wreath on the cenotaph in Whitehall and another on the grave of the unknown soldier in Westminster abbey. Tomorrow they will be the guests of the city at the Guildhall.

WATCH ON RHINE
BY U. S. TROOPS
A PROBLEM NOWHarding Again Faces
Clash of Views.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., July 4.—(Special.)—The question of withdrawal of American troops from the occupation of German territory on the Rhine is fair to become an important issue, unless President Harding should act immediately to bring the matter home.

The President will return to Washington tomorrow to begin consideration of the next moves on the peace program, the first of which is expected to be an executive proclamation formally withdrawing the war at an end.

Some administration officials are of the opinion that the President's next step after issuing the peace proclamation will be an order withdrawing the American troops from Europe. There are, however, some extremely influential members of the cabinet who will counsel the President to leave the army occupation on the Rhine pending the conclusion of negotiations between America and Germany and American and the allies on questions arising from the war.

Irreconcilable for Withdrawal.
If the President does not signify his intention of withdrawing the troops upon a resolution will be introduced in the senate, probably by Senator Johnson of California, instructing the secretary of war to order the forces home.

This is the move determined upon by the senate irreconcilables.

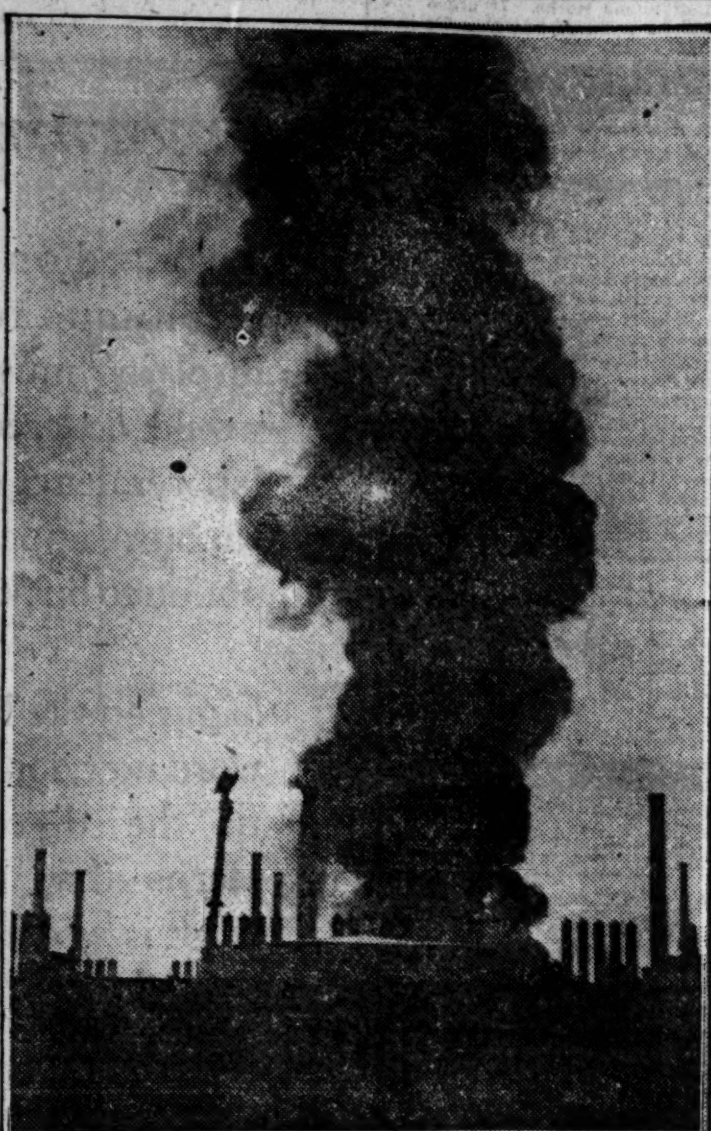

They held that congress may constitutionally instruct the secretary of war, though not the President, and they have considered the contingency of the President directing the secretary of war to ignore the instructions of congress, thus precipitating a clash between the executive and legislative branches of the government. It is more likely, however, that if the President desires to retain the troops in Europe the administration leaders would block passage of a withdrawal resolution by congress.

Treaty Permits Continuance.
Under the terms of the peace resolution all rights acquired by the United States under the armistice and the Versailles treaty are reserved and one of these rights is the occupation of German territory by American troops.

There is authority to retain the troops on the Rhine and the only question is how long it is to the interest of the United States to keep them there.

The President has declared the United States interested in the German indemnity settlement, and it is pending the payment of the reparations and fulfillment of other treaty

WHERE NINE LOST LIVES

The photograph gives a view of yesterday's $2,000,000 fire at Whiting, Ind., where a tiny leak caused the explosion of one of the Standard Oil company's huge gasoline stills and ignited others. Nine persons were killed, seven more are missing, and forty-two were injured. The pillar of smoke is arising from the burning stills.

terms that allied troops are to remain on the Rhine for fifteen years. Coblenz, where the American troops are stationed, is to be evacuated in ten years if the treaty terms are fulfilled by Germany.

Problem Facing Harding.
Mr. Harding has detailed representatives to the reparations commission and other bodies to deal with questions of purely American interest, but whether he will consider it necessary to keep the troops in Europe in connection with that purpose remains to be seen.

The question of retaining the troops on the Rhine is really one of the extent to which we purpose to participate in enforcing the German peace terms, and that will be determined only by the eventual peace settlements Mr. Harding negotiates and the senate approves.

U. S. FLAG IN BERLIN.
BERLIN, July 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—American flags flew over Berlin today for the first time since the American declaration of war, but the American mission and the German foreign office have not yet been formally notified that congress has concluded peace.

The newspapers confine comment to the hope that there will be a speedy resumption of peace time commercial relations.

The Stars and Stripes floated from the American chamber of commerce and a few private dwellings.

HARVEY PRAISES
KING GEORGE FOR HIS PLEA TO ERIN

(Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.)
[Copyright: 1921.]

LONDON, July 4.—Ambassador Harvey, speaking tonight at the American society's Independence day dinner, after referring to the meaning of the celebration, paid a compliment to the king.

"If George III," he said, had put forth a proclamation even approximating in eloquent sincerity and appealing force that uttered the other day by George V, in his faithful endeavor to reconcile a nation, there would have been no ringing of bells in Philadelphia 145 years ago this night, nor for many years thereafter."

Col. Harvey does not lack critics even here, and one of them at the table remarked at this, "He's spoiling for a fight with the Irish now."

A Few Plain Thoughts.
"All I have to offer to you now," Mr. Harvey said, "are a few plain remarks upon things as they are or seem to be at this moment. As I perceive the whole situation now, mutual helpfulness cannot be realized until grave misapprehensions have been removed. "One of those misapprehensions pervades Europe with respect to America; another permeates America 'as to Europe."

"I find in Europe the common impression that the United States alone among the nations of the world is today a land of milk and honey, whose people are not only universally prosperous though resolutely discontented, but are rich to a fabulous degree."

"But what are the facts? Let us search the records five years ago. America's national debt was a little over $1,000,000,000, or less than $10 per capita. Now it exceeds twenty odd billions, more than $200 per capita. In 1915 congressional appropriations were $674,000,000. In 1920, for 1921, they were nearly $3,000,000,000 and left a deficit of another $1,000,000,000."

Terrific Income Taxes.
"To raise these huge sums income taxation has been increased till it ranges from 4 per cent on the smallest income to nearly 70 per cent on the largest."

"An that fetches me to the second misapprehension to which I referred—that of my own countrymen who have been led to doubt that the people of Europe were doing their utmost for themselves before seeking help."

"During the last two months I have talked, freely and frankly with representatives of every stricken state in Europe and I have not heard one complaining word nor received a single request for beneficence. It is not charity but opportunity that they crave."

Anglo-American Friendship.

Mr. Harvey then referred to Anglo-American relations and said:

"Already a better understanding between Great Britain and the United States has achieved one far reaching result of inestimable value to the entire world. For the first time in history the turbulent Atlantic has become as a mill pond, practically eliminated from considerations of danger so far as naval warfare is concerned."

Taft Unable to Go to Washington for Few Days

Montreal, July 4.—William H. Taft, newly appointed chief justice of the United States, will be compelled to postpone his conference at Washington with President Harding and Attorney General Daugherty, it became apparent today when argument was resumed in the Grand Trunk arbitration proceedings. Mr. Taft is a member of the arbitration board and said he intended to remain here until it was finished, the latter part of this week.

IRELAND READY FOR PEACE WITH HONOR—BOLAND

Calls Upon America to Aid Erin's Cause.

Henry J. Boland, Ireland's independence day speaker, listened yesterday to the foregoing from Harry J. Boland, secretary to Parnell de Valera, "president" of the Irish "republic," and a member of the Irish parliament.

35,000 in Irish Parade.
Twenty-five thousand persons before this had paraded past a reviewing stand in front of St. Bernard's church, 6th street and Stewart avenue. Those in the stand included John E. Traeger, former sheriff; Daniel Ryan, president of the county board; James Breen, acting corporation counsel; the Rev. William F. Cahill, the Rev. James Egan, John J. Conroy, Mrs. Mary McWhorter, and others.

Lands Smuts as Peace Envoy.
Some critics of his tactics in his fight for freedom, he said at Gaelic park. "Remember Lexington? Foolish Gen. Warren had fired on American patriots. They ambushed and slaughtered the army of George III. The army of George V. is now being ambushed by Irish patriots because the English, like Warren, foolishly fired upon them. It's the same empire and the same family of King Georges."

"The selection of Gen. Smuts, premier of British South Africa, as special peace envoy to Ireland is a hopeful sign of peace. In 700 years England has never before invited Irish rebels to a peace conference."

"The peace negotiations may or may

Boland was applauded by thousands.

HOPE FOR IRISH PEACE RISES AS FACTIONS MEET

De Valera and Unionists Confer at Dublin.

he was glad to be free amongst them again.

Sinn Fein Heads Meet.
Afterward a Sinn Fein conference was held at the Mansion House at which Robert Barton, the "republican minister of agriculture," who has just been released from Portland jail, was present. Others at the meeting were Count Plunkett, Erskine Childers, Michael Duggan, and a number of other Sinn Fein members of parliament.

There is a feeling of decided optimism in Dublin tonight. Great steps toward peace will have been taken if the south agrees to present a united front for a dominion status and abandons the republic demand, and if the north can be induced to cooperate, peace is certain.

IRISH BARBARA FRIETCHIE.

DUBLIN, July 4.—An exciting incident occurred after the "All-Ireland" conference. A large "republican flag," decorated with American emblems, hanging from a window in Dominick street was removed by soldiers. A girl secured the flag and escaped. Later the flag was hung from a rope across the street. Auxiliary police climbed to the roof and cut the rope; when the flag fell it was seized by watchers, but was recaptured by the auxiliaries. A shot was fired during the confusion and the girl was severely injured.

IRISH PARADE IN NEW YORK.

New York, July 4.—[Special.]—In a sweltering heat that took the punch out of enthusiasm 25,000 men and women and children marched on Fifth avenue to Central park this morning in the liberty parade organized by the American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic.

It was regarded as being the most orderly and in some respects most picturesque of parades organized to accentuate the demand for recognition of the Irish republic.

FAHERTY DELAYS $7,000,000 WORK ON CITY STREETS

Only Ogden Avenue
May Be Pushed.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

Seven million dollars worth of street improvements—for which the people voted $28,000,000 in bonds—are to be abandoned, delayed, or not taken up for two years.

Regardless of what the proper descriptive verb should be, President Faherty of the board of local improvements has released $7,000,000 of the city's bonding power for two years, which means that street improvement bonds to the extent of $7,000,000 will not be issued for two years and therefore cannot be spent for these street improvements.

With that plan in effect, it is fair to forecast that it will be 1923 before the improvements are completed as far as the bond issues will go even if reasonable progress is made. It also seems reasonably certain that the present city administration will be lucky if it completes only one of the five streets. The one is Ogden avenue, of which the preliminaries are now on hearing in the county court.

Drops Threat to Stop all Work.

A few weeks ago Faherty was credited with threatening to stop work on all street improvements unless he was vindicated by the Chicago Plan commission. He wanted this because of his embarrassment in connection with the enormous fees paid building and real estate experts. But that threat was too coarse a political move even for the city hall crowd. It was dropped, apparently.

But a number of the aldermen were exceedingly anxious to increase the water supply. In certain outlying districts, during the extremely hot spell, water has not been obtainable on the second and third floors, according to the representations to the aldermen. The income of the water fund was deemed insufficient to finance the improvements suggested by the department of public works. It urged the issuance of water certificates. No referendum of the voters on them is required. But they must be considered as part of the city's debt, and the water plant improvements contemplate the issuance of nearly $10,000,000 of them.

Getting Close to Bonding Limit.

The city controller represents that the city is now within $1,500,000 of its bonding power. Therefore it necessarily follows that if a large amount of water certificates are issued, street improvement bonds, approved by the voters, cannot be issued.

So Faherty wrote a letter to the engineering bureau offering to release $7,000,000 bonding power for two years, which means that $7,000,000 in street improvement bonds, approved by the voters, will not be issued for two years. Asked what street improvements are to be retarded, Faherty said that he did not think any of them would be. He added that he thought he can well spare the $7,000,000 for two years.

$100 HERO PRIZE FOR SLAYER OF LEONARD BANKS

Policeman McMahon Shot
Bank Robber in Duel.

For his intrepidity in "shooting it out" with Leonard Banks, gunman, bank robber, safebreaker, whisky burglar, and enemy of policeman, this Tribune awards Sgt. John McMahon the $100 hero prize for the month of June, 1921.

McMahon killed Banks last Wednesday morning. For years Banks has been looked upon by the police as a hair trigger gunman ready to kill a policeman whenever a fifty-fifty chance of a getaway and the opportunity to slay a member of the force appeared simultaneously.

For killing Banks, who was at liberty from the penitentiary on a writ of superseas after conviction for robbing the Stockmen's Trust and Savings bank, Chief Fitzmorris promoted McMahon to the rank of temporary sergeant. The promotion carries a $400 pay increase. "Such acts as that will put the fear of the law and its guardians into the hearts of criminal leaders," Chief Fitzmorris said in making the promotion.

Story of the Battle.
Just after midnight McMahon met Banks at Lake and Rockwell streets. He recognized and stopped Banks, searched him, and warned him to get out of the neighborhood. Banks said he was waiting for a taxicab.

McMahon walked to the patrol barn at 17 North Campbell avenue. While standing at the barn door, McMahon noticed Banks walking toward Madison street. Suddenly he stopped and gazed steadfastly at McMahon for a few seconds. Apparently he decided that here was his chance.

Banks approached the barn runway and McMahon, remembering the criminal had been out of his sight for a few minutes, decided to search him again.

"Take your hands out of your pockets," he ordered.

Bullet Rips Policeman's Coat.
Banks did, but a revolver came along with the right hand, and he blazed away at McMahon without warning. The first bullet ripped through the policeman's coat. By that time he, too, was firing. Banks' gun jammed after two shots. McMahon fired six shots, all of which took effect, mortally wounding one of Chicago's toughest bandits.

"Banks' aim was just a trifle poor, and that saved McMahon's life, as the first bullet cut through the shoulder of McMahon's coat," the official report of Capt. Charles Atkinson to Chief Fitzmorris says.

After his release from the penitentiary, Banks shot Edwin Shevnan, a Canadian soldier. He is also believed to have shot Policeman William Bush-

Honorable Mention.

THE TRIBUNE awards honorable mention to Patrolman John Meade, who led the attack on two bandits who had secreted themselves behind crated machinery in a warehouse at 1455 West 38th street, after robbing a jewelry store. After wounding one of the robbers, Meade, assisted by Patrolman John O'Brien and Patrick O'Connell, captured both bandits.

The award to Sgt. McMahon is the eighteenth of THE TRIBUNE's monthly $100 awards for the bravest act performed each month by Chicago policemen, firemen, or life guards.

CAMP ROOSEVELT BOYS READY FOR MILITARY WORK

Muskegon, Mich., July 4.—[Special.]

The 900 boys at Camp Roosevelt are ready for active training that starts Wednesday. Organizations were completed today and the Camp Roosevelt High school will open tomorrow, enrollments having been made today. C. P. Smith of the Hyde Park High school, Chicago, and ten other Chicago high school instructors are in charge.

The band, composed of musicians from several Chicago schools, made a trip to North Muskegon today to attend a celebration.

Several hundred Chicago visitors were at the camp and a patriotic program was given this evening.

Nearly every boy in camp went swimming earlier.

CHICAGO BAND TO BEGIN ELEVENTH CONCERT SERIES

The eleventh series of summer concerts to be given by the Chicago band, William Well, conductor, during July and August will start in Grant park tomorrow night and will be continued every Wednesday during the two months.

There will be concerts at community gatherings in seventeen wards, at the Jackson park, 51st street, Clarendon, and Rogers Park beaches, the community house of Beverly Hills, the Hebrew Institute, Chicago Commons, Northwestern university, Emerson, University of Chicago, and Hull house settlements, the Home for Incurables, the county hospital, United States hospital No. 30, and the orphan's outing in Lincoln park.

BERNARD FALLON NOW MANAGER OF ELEVATED LINES

Appointment of Bernard J. Fallon as general manager of the Chicago Elevated railroads has been announced by President Britton I. Budd.

Mr. Fallon, who is a member of the Western Society of Engineers, began his railroad career as a rodman with the Chicago, Burlington, and Quincy railroad, later becoming superintendent of track elevation work. In 1907 he entered the services of the Metropolitan elevated road as engineer of maintenance of way. Two years later he was appointed assistant general manager. When the elevated roads were brought together under joint operation in 1911, Mr. Fallon became engineer of maintenance of way of the unified system.

GAMBLING RAIDS ON SOUTH SIDE NET 52 ARRESTS

Fifty-two men were arrested by Stanton avenue police who raided three alleged gambling houses last night.

Ten men taken at 478 East 37th street, and Alexander McGuire, a Negro, was booked as keeper. Twenty-five were taken at 3515 South State street and seventeen men at 215 East 25th street.

All will be arraigned in the South Clark street court today.

Band Concert in Lincoln Park at Wisconsin Street

A band concert was given at the foot of Wisconsin street in Lincoln park yesterday. There will be a concert each Sunday afternoon this month.

HORRIBLE TALE OF U. S. NEGLECT OF SICK HEROES

Unbelievable Scandal Grows
Under Investigation.

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Washington, D. C., July 4.—(Special.)—The scandal of government neglect of discharged soldiers in need of medical treatment and other relief is growing in proportions daily with the revelations before the senate investigating committee.

Among the ex-service men whose testimony has been heard was a professional acrobat who had been earning a week before he went to war. His name was suppressed by the committee, but here is his unvarnished tale of his experience with government neglect, inefficiency, care, insanitary conditions and callous, inhuman treatment in the government hospitals.

"I was discharged from the army Dec. 14, 1918. Three days later when I was in the middle of an act in a Chicago theater I had a hemorrhage and had to stop. A doctor sent me to the United States public health hospital."

The Delayed Compensation.
"I put in an application for compensation and seven months later received an allowance of $30 a month. I came to Washington to get my check, other than I would have taken about a year to get it."

"I then went into a private sanitarium where it cost me $35 a week, paid out of my own funds. A month later I was ordered to report to the United States Marine hospital in Chicago and they sent me to Greenville, S. C. I was there only two days. It was a canker and the conditions are unsanitary."

Spends His Own Money.
"They let me leave and I came to Washington, got my compensation and went to a private sanitarium in California at my own expense. It cost $1 a week and after four months my funds were exhausted. So I applied for a contract institution at Liberty, N. Y."

"I stayed there four months. The hospital burned down; it was a wooden building. We were in our rooms sleeping. If I had not been an acrobat I could not have jumped out as quickly as I did. Two of the men were burned and died."

"I came to Washington to try to get compensation for my clothes, but they said then I was sent to the general hospital in Washington; a place, doctors and nurses all. They gave me all kinds of examinations and I had active tuberculosis. I was sent to Fort Bayard, N. M., but they afterward changed this to 'Prescott, Ariz., Whipple barracks.'

"This is an old public health service hospital. After I had been there eight or nine days a doctor came along and said I ought to be examined the next day."

Insists It's a Mental Case.
"So after nine days Dr. Robertson examined me and said: 'Son, you have not got very much trouble. All I can see is that you have a nervous trouble, which is what they call neurasthenia.'"

"Twelve doctors had told me I had tuberculosis. Eight days later I had a hemorrhage. Conditions in the hospital were bad and the food was bad. There were worms in the milk. The commanding officer said that might happen in any good family. The men published this in their newspaper. Then they began going to town to eat at their own expense."

"For some time the Negroes were placed together with the whites. The men kicked very strongly, but the commanding officer said they don't live very long with tuberculosis; only about six months, any way."

Fear T. B. in the Eyes.

"These barracks were unclean; they had been condemned by the army. The toilets were insanitary and never had been cleaned. The facilities to wash in were so dirty that it was impossible for a man to wash his face because he was liable to get tuberculosis of the eye or nose or ear. There were 400 patients there."

"The men die right along of tuberculosis in the wards with the other patients. The men all say 'Good-by' and take up a collection for the flowers, and then he is gone and they go to his funeral."

"Then if you complain a little they take away our passes to town and you are called a psychopathic case and sent to the 'neurological,' who classes you as a mental case—not exactly crazy, but unbalanced. I know of cases where men have kicked and been sent to an insane asylum for eight or nine months. So it's best not to kick, but to keep your mouth shut."

VOGUE

PARIS is written large all over this number. All the smartest coats and sweaters and waistcoats that are motoring over the straight white roads of France are in it. You can choose, for that motor trip you're planning, anything from a beige waterproofed crepe coat with straps of scarlet leather to a cow-hide waistcoat embroidered with Roumanian flowers.

THEN there's a page of those becoming little hats of summery felt. Vionnet frocks from recent Paris weddings; and two Poiret daytime dresses that are lovely—and long!

And from the shops come some very practical things—lingerie, and motor clothes, smart little sports hats—and a page for the well-dressed young man under eight.

"Where is it then—this Vogue, magnificent and not dear?"

SIMS CRITICIZES MUZZLE ON NAVY, ARMY, OFFICERS

Newport, R. I., July 4.—The attitude of the United States, which he said, not only had always neglected to provide for public criticism by officers of the armed force, but has actually forbidden it, was contrasted with that of some European powers, by Rear Admiral William S. Sims, in an address today before the Rhode Island branch of the Society of the Cincinnati, in which he urged public discussion as a safeguard to public interests. In some continental countries, he declared, criticism was recognized as so vital to efficiency—it was rewarded when it proved beneficial. The American people, Admiral Sims said, know less about the elements of warfare and less about the actual conditions of their military forces than the people of any other great power.

Leads to Unpreparedness. This, he said, led to unpreparedness for war, declaring the efficiency of the various federal departments necessarily depended largely upon the interest the people took in their efficiency. "I believe," he continued, "that the reason for this dangerous lack in our people of solicitude for our national security is due chiefly to our belief that our independence is never likely to be in danger, though this feeling has been somewhat shaken by recent events. Contrast this condition of mind with that of some European countries where the national defense is always a live issue. The truth about the actual condition of their armed forces is so vitally important that any one who can point out a defect or suggest an improvement will earn the gratitude of his government. Criticism is invited and rewarded when it proves beneficial.

"Not So in United States." "In the United States we have not only always neglected to provide for public criticism by our officers, but we have actually forbidden it."

More than a year ago a senate committee completed an investigation of a matter of vital importance to our first line of national defense. Practically all of the naval witnesses testified that the organization of our navy department is such as to make it impossible effectively to prepare for war or to conduct war. Notwithstanding the importance of this investigation, the report of the committee has not yet been made. Are our people losing any sleep over this? They are not. "The missing element in Americanism is that it does not include adequate solicitude for our safety. The government and, to a certain extent, the people resent criticism of anything American."

"American," He Says. Admiral Sims expressed the hope that his hearers would "be kind enough to consider me an American, notwithstanding the title has been given me by certain unfriendly critics of 'the most popular British admiral in the American navy.'"

KNOX WARNS OF RADICAL, UNTRIED PATHS TO UTOPIA

Senator Calls the Reds
Self-Destructive.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 4.—At a Fourth of July celebration in Independence hall today Senator Knox of Pennsylvania warned against theories of government, social and economic life, brought by alien races, "doctrines born of the ill of the land from which they came, radical remedies, sometimes self-amputating to those using them."

"Mighty ferment are at work among us governmentally and socially," the senator said.

"Today there are coming to us by the millions peoples from races untraditional and unseasoned in self-government, peoples unfamiliar with and largely unappreciative of its good, and untutored to tolerate and meet its evil. There are those among us who deny the very basis of our social order."

"Were their new theories tried, had they been effectively used by any race, had any people or nation risen to wealth, power, and happiness under them, we might hope that adjustment thereof to our environment would make them tolerable. But such were not the facts."

"Bolshevism may be the heaven of the theorist crushed under the weight of a cruel system, but it bears no true relation to the inconsequential defects of free government."

"As the nation's fathers fought phys-

FRANK C. FARNUM, EX-SENATOR, DEAD; FEUD RECALLED

Former State Senator Frank C. Farnum, member of the general assembly 1902-8, died on Sunday at his residence, 744 Bittersweet place, at the age of 86.

Mr. Farnum was identified with one of the bitterest of political feuds some years ago. He was a member of the Deaneen following in the primary election in December, 1906. On the opposite side was the Lorimer faction. During the balloting it was charged an attempt had been made to steal a ballot box. There was a fight and County Commissioner John V. Kopf was fatally stabbed. Mr. Farnum was exonerated by the coroner.

He was chief clerk of the Probate court from 1894 to 1908.

He is survived by his widow, Lillie M. Farnum, and two sons, James L. and Frank F. Funeral services will be held under the auspices of Garfield lodge, No. 686, A. F. and A. M., at the residence tomorrow at 2 p. m.

ical foes and subdued them," Senator Knox continued, "so we must do battle with foes of the mind and heart. We must combat the diseased mind, and conquer. But be not, fellow citizens, I beseech you," he added, "deceived or lulled into the false security which brings destruction."

PLEA TO FILL IN LAKE NEAR LOOP IS UP TOMORROW

Little opposition is expected tomorrow morning at the hearing before United States Engineer William V. Judson on the request of the south park commission for a permit to extend Grant park 300 feet into the lake between Roosevelt road and Randolph street.

"I have heard of no protests and all except the minor details have already been arranged," J. F. Foster, superintendent of the south parks, said yesterday. "Slight changes have been made in our application at Col. Judson's suggestion."

The improvement, which will give the downtown district a huge bathing beach, will necessitate the removal of the Chicago Yacht club and Illinois naval reserve buildings about 300 feet east to the new short line.

New York, July 4.—The Mulford biological expedition, which sailed from New York, June 1, to explore the head waters of the Amazon and search for new drugs, has arrived at La Paz, Bolivia. The expedition, headed by Dr. Henry H. Rusby, will commence descending the eastern slope of the Andes tomorrow, with the Bopi river as the chief objective.

Ponies or Elephants

Some years ago a friend of ours in the advertising business had a customer who made cutlery.

The cutlery was of fine quality, the line old and well known to the trade; the works were small and the output limited.

This manufacturer wanted to advertise nationally, and our friend agreed with him that a modest appropriation over a period of years would prove effective and profitable.

However, this was not to be—for while the cutler wanted to buy, as he said, "a nice team of ponies," a band of advertising authorities sold him "a herd of wild elephants."

While there is no doubt that a longer list of failures in the past was due to under-advertising than to over-advertising, there is today sufficient advertising experience to make unnecessary either a bombastic over-draft or an ineffectual parsimony in the moulding of public opinion by advertising.

the Seine, despite the fact that fares had been raised from 15 and 25 centimes to 35 and 55 centimes.

Their rolling stock needed repairs or complete renewal. Their lines needed new rails.

The companies alleged that the fare increase did not compensate for the increase in wages and all supplies.

Except one prosperous concern in Lyons and another in Bordeaux, the surface lines and utilities concerns of the French provincial cities face most serious financial trouble.

Wherever distances are short, the increased fares have resulted in a notable decrease in traffic, laborers and clerks preferring to walk than to pay the new fares.

Reduction in the cost of coal and supplies might better their situation, but, generally speaking, the tendency manifestly is towards municipal and departmental purchase.

How Berlin Has Made Out.

Municipal acquisition of the Berlin street car lines in 1920, at a time when they were operating at a loss, has resulted in increasing their deficit from 125,000,000 marks to a far higher figure.

During the same period the elevated and subway lines, which are privately owned, have paid the city 3,000,000 marks for franchises and have declared 4 per cent dividends.

During the last few years 80 per cent of the surface lines throughout

Germany have been operating at terrific loss. Most of these lines are publicly owned. In some instances competing private lines have met their expenses and have paid small dividends.

Hamburg Lines in Bad Shape.

The Hamburg municipal lines, which have been considered the most efficiently managed in Germany, barely are able to break even. These facts and figures are official and were taken from the companies' statements and from reports to the Berlin transportation chief.

One of the chief reasons for Berlin's heavy deficit is the practice of the city in giving monthly tickets over the city's lines at a flat rate of 13 marks. Other reasons are the enormous increase in wages due to high cost of living and a disproportionate increase of fares.

A ride costing 10 pfennigs before the war has been gradually raised to the actual cost of 1 mark. Living costs and wages have increased much more than 1,000 per cent.

Depreciation Is Excessive.

During the war the roadbeds and rolling stock of the street car lines depreciated enormously, and now the city, on account of the prohibitive rate of exchange and the enormous accrued deficits, is unable to rebuild the lines.

Even the private bus lines, which are operated most economically and are experiencing no handicap from depreciated track systems, only pay 4 per cent dividends.

In Berlin it is believed that the municipal transportation problem is too vital to permit the drawing from these facts the conclusion that the lines should be left entirely in private control. Many think that deficits, which they term inseparable from municipal control, can be overcome by permitting a cooperative operating arrangement with private capital.

In such an arrangement the municipality would still own the controlling block of stock or interest, but the actual management would be left in private hands.

This plan is finding many adherents throughout Germany. It has been operating in Frankfurt and Koenigsberg with marked success. It is believed if it were introduced in Berlin and other large centers it would produce equal efficiency.

The official returns for London trams run by the London county council show a deficit of £390,000 for this fiscal year. Receipts have amounted to £4,906,000.

About 190,000,000 passengers were carried during the fiscal year 1920-1921, as compared with 635,000,000 during the previous twelve months.

The cars covered a total distance exceeding 57,000,000 miles.

It is estimated that the tramways' income for the coming year will amount to £5,496,000, reducing the deficit to £7,500.

Talk of the Town

The New Improved Gillette

Patented January 13th, 1920

Seldom does the camera owner realize how many inventors contributed their work to make a snap-shot possible! Scheele, Archer, Fry, Maddox, King, Kennett—followed by the scores of men who perfected the celluloid film, opening up photography to everybody everywhere.

IN your home, your office, or factory, your work or your sport—nearly everything you use is the combined result of many different inventors and discoverers.

Not so your New Improved Gillette!

The New Gillette is the creation of the same group of men who have served the world with Gillette Safety Razors and Blades for nearly twenty years.

It brings to you the latest, the finest, results of Gillette experience and factory resources.

Through the long-established Gillette Organization, it reaches every nook and corner of the Civilized Globe.

Never has any human need owed so much to a single source as shaving owes to the Gillette Organization.

Never was a success more dramatic or more complete.

The Gillette has seen three hundred makes of razors flare up—only to flicker out. It has seen imitations—and the imitations harmed nobody but the men who tried to use them.

Now the New Improved Gillette brings the era of micrometric precision in shaving.

Go to your druggist, hardware merchant, jeweler, sporting goods dealer, haberdasher, or men's department—any one of 250,000 Gillette dealers the world over.

Ask to see the New Improved Gillette Safety Razor.

It will not take you long to realize why men all over the world are discarding their present razors even old-type Gillettes for this new and higher shaving service.

NOTE:—The Gillette Company assumes full responsibility for the service of Gillette Blades when used in any GENUINE Gillette Razor—either old-type or New Improved Gillette. But with IMITATIONS of the genuine Gillette, it cannot take responsibility for service of Blades.

NEW YORK WETS
PARADE UNDER
MERCILESS SUN

New York, July 4.—Something less than 30,000 men, with a decided sprinkling of women, marched up Fifth avenue from Washington arch to 60th street this afternoon in a demonstration for wine, beer and personal liberty.

It was called a wet parade, and it was wet-soaking wet—with perspiration. The afternoon was one of the hottest of the year, a scorching sun shining down through a humid atmosphere that carried scarcely a whiff of breeze.

Other thousands packed the sidewalks for more than two miles and cheered a terrible thirst cheering the marchers.

The parade fell short of the expectations of the American Liberties league, which promoted it, but Frank C. Drake, director general, declared there were at least 15,000 men in line and that more than 100,000 others had assembled, but did not march because of the heat.

Mr. Drake's figure was obviously an

PARADE OF "WETS"

New York, July 4.—[Special.]—Here are some of the inscriptions on the banners appearing in today's "wet" parade:

We Are Citizens, Not Inmates.

Which Are You?

This Country Is Suffering from Dry Rot. Sprinkle It.

overestimate, for the parade took just one minute less than two hours in passing.

Hyman Greeted with Cheers.

Mayor Hyman smiled and sweltered in the seat of honor in the reviewing stand at Madison square. Each group greeted him with complimentary outbursts as it passed. The native born addressed him blantly and intimately and every now and then somebody would loudly inquire if his honor didn't long for a schooner of lager on such a hot day.

The foreign born—and they made up a big percentage of this demonstration against dryness—always addressed the mayor by his title or as "Mr. Hyman."

Many of the paraders seemed to be under the impression that Mayor Hyman's reflection would signalize the sale of wine and beer.

Slogane and motto, derivative of prohibition and calling for the restoration of wine and beer, were scattered in profusion all through the procession. The one that caused the most comment was a copy of Leonardo Da Vinci's famous painting, "The Last Supper" borne by a woman. Underneath the copy of the painting was a printed slip bearing the words: "Wine Was Served." Then followed five hundred men and women, seemingly of foreign extraction, bearing flags with the inscription "We Want Wine With Our Meals."

Banners with a "Kick."

There were more than 300 organizations in line, those in charge announced. Bands played drinking songs and songs dedicated to the absence of drinks. Banners by the hundred mingled the serious sentiments of the thirsty with the lighter view of people on the water wagon.

A telegram to both United States senators from New York, James W. Wadsworth Jr. and William M. Calder, said:

"The remarkable anti-prohibition parade in New York City on Independence day of over 100,000 good citizens will support you in your opposition to the Volstead act, which must go."

COST OF WHEAT SHIPPING BARES WATERWAY NEED

Ocean Craft at Lake Ports Would Mean Big Saving.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Wheat tells the story of the importance of the St. Lawrence ocean going steamship waterway enterprise—the greatest engineering project now under consideration in the world—to American farmers in the great bread basket region between the Alleghenies and the Rockies. American wheat is now being exported by all-water route from Chicago and other lake ports by way of Montreal, and the transportation cost between Chicago and Montreal is a bushel less than if the grain went through the port of New York.

This all-water movement is through the present canal which will not take vessels drawing more than fourteen feet, meaning the grain must go all the way in small boats or be transferred to small ships at Port Colborne, the entrance to the Welland canal, and then transferred against St. Montreal. The ocean rates are the same from Montreal as from New York.

Advantage of Boats on Lakes.

Green going vessels could travel all the way from lake ports to the sea without having to break bulk, it is estimated there would be an additional saving of 6 to 8 cents a bushel. All told, it would mean that wheat would be exported directly from Chicago and other lake ports at rates 10 or 11 cents a bushel less than if it went abroad by the rail-water route from Chicago to New York. This one item alone means to agriculture may be seen from the fact that more than 75 per cent of our wheat is grown in the states in the "heart of the continent" and about 23 per cent of our wheat production is exported. For the ten years, 1911-20, it averaged 23 per cent and for the ten years, 1901-10, it averaged 21 1/2 per cent.

Illuminating Figures Given.

The present comparative figures on transportation costs are given in a recent letter from H. C. Gardner, president of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater association, to J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, in response to an inquiry. They are illuminating.

From Chicago to Buffalo, a distance of 890 miles, it costs 2.7 of a cent to transport a bushel of wheat by vessel. From Buffalo to New York, a distance of 429 miles by the New York Central, it costs 12.1 cents a bushel by rail for wheat for export. The lightering and loading cost 1 1/2 cents more. So the expense of putting a bushel of grain on ship in New York harbor shipped by water and rail from Chicago amounts to something like 16.3 cents. Against this, even with the fourteen foot canal in the St. Lawrence, requiring cargo transfers, the overall cost from the Chicago elevator to free on board vessel at Montreal is approximately 11.7 cents a bushel.

C. A. C. Points to Benefits.

The Chicago Association of Commerce calls attention to the fact that an ocean going artery through the St. Lawrence, turning the great lakes into a "fresh water Mediterranean," would not only give vast benefits in development of foreign trade, but would also accomplish great savings in transportation charges through coastwise trade. The great industrial regions within fifty miles of the Atlantic, New York to Boston, are large consumers of field products, the bulk of which must come from the west, and the ever rising cost of placing food products in the east is all a part of the growing agricultural problem.

Going back to 1912-13, to get comparative conditions, unaffected by the war, government reports show that per ton mile of water borne traffic to and from Lake Superior the cost is about one-tenth the cost by rail, while the charge is about one-ninth the charge by rail.

From this the Association of Commerce argues thus: The average rail distance, New York and Boston to Chicago, is about 1,000 miles. The sailing distance, Chicago, down the St. Lawrence and coastwise to New York, is about 2,900 miles. If the ratio of cost charge by rail is one mile to nine by water, as in 1912, then the rail distance, Chicago to New York, is equivalent to 9,000 miles of water. If the cost is one mile to ten, then the rail cost is equivalent to 10,000 miles of water. To be ultra-conservative, it is pointed out that if one mile of rail is equivalent to five miles of water, then the rail cost and charge, Chicago to New York, is equivalent to 5,000 water miles. But the sailing distance is only 2,900 miles, which indicates the measure of saving which would ensue through coastwise traffic.

Doctor-Landlord Fires

Shot at Tenant; Arrested

Dr. Samuel Solomon, owner of a building at 1813 North La Salle street, was booked at Chicago avenue station yesterday when Michael Handow charged the physician had fired a shot at him during a landlord-tenant argument. Dr. Solomon said he fired after he had been set upon by six men and three women, several of them his tenants.

SEE GEN. WOOD AS NEXT RULER OF PHILIPPINES

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

MANILA, P. I., July 4.—From sources outside the Wood-Forbes mission I learn there is strong confidence that Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood will finally be prevailed upon to accept President Harding's offer of the governor generalship of the Philippine Islands.

From my own observation of the situation here and an analysis of Gen. Wood's recent public utterances this seems far from improbable.

Gen. Wood has never definitely refused this job. He came out to look it over first and has not yet made a decision as to whether he will accept it.

Considers Bigness of Task.

There is probability that he has become so impressed with the bigness of the task here and its serious and far-reaching ramifications as to affect the whole far east problem that he could be persuaded to remain in the service if President Harding would continue to exert strong pressure to bring this about. For this reason Americans here are cabling President Harding urging the immediate appointment of Gen. Wood.

The keynote to Gen. Wood's character is service to his country. He would take financial and personal loss without thought if he felt he could save the situation. A strong effort is being made to have him think this way.

Angles of the Problem.

In recent speeches Gen. Wood has made it clear that the problem now is how to protect the masses from their own political biases, and how to lead them to the point of civil intelligence and ability to fight for their own rights.

The general wants to know how to deal with the peculiar psychology of this oriental race that looks at things in many ways opposite to the Anglo-Saxon. How to satisfy the Filipinos and keep them from rebellion or sulking. How to build up a social conscience and how to clean the hall of justice.

Recently the Spanish consul here and members of the Spanish colony at Manila petitioned the king of Spain to give Gen. Wood the Order of Isabel the Catholic for his services to the Spanish speaking people. That shows how he is regarded among this class which rules in many parts of the islands.

Leads Mission with Tact.

Gen. Wood has handled the situation so far with consummate tact. There has been much room for potential trouble. He has been able to intimate indirectly that there is no stable government here without arousing much criticism or opposition. He is well liked, as he and President Harding have many aims in common for the betterment of the people.

One suggestion made to President Harding by Americans in the islands is that Gen. Wood be given two years here and that he then be made colonial secretary in charge of all American alien outposts and subjects, with a salary to compensate him well.

Certainly no American who is not familiar with the Spanish speaking people or the oriental mentality could be expected to make anything but a mess out here. In filling the position the field must be narrowed to include only those who have the trust of the American people.

Mr. W. Cameron Forbes lost his health in service here, which is becoming more and more recognized. His practical building policy is apparent today. As a result of ailments brought on when he was governor general he is not able to live here now.

Gen. Wood is strong, is insured to the climate here.

"Sonny" Dunn and Pal

Held as Saloon Robbers

"Sonny" Dunn, well known to the police, and Edmund Kellher were arrested yesterday by Detective Sergeants Egan, McCarthy, and McFadden on suspicion of having held up a number of south side saloons. Dunn was released from the county jail on $17,500 bail March 10 after spending two months behind the bars. He had been arrested on a charge of auto stealing after a search that extended over more than a year. The hunt began when Dunn jumped a prior bond in the Criminal court just as he was about to be brought to trial.

"One of the Greatest Economic Problems Is Dis- tribution"

PRESIDENT HARDING in a recent address declared that "one of the greatest economic problems, if not the greatest, is distribution. There can be no doubt of the position of the good roads movement in the solution of the problem. I believe that Federal and State Governments must not only create good roads but they must insist upon the maintenance of good roads. A good road gone wrong is a streak of memorial to neglect and waste. The roads we build must be built for use in the distribution of products rather than for merely pleasure riding. We must foster the use of motor trucks."

The expression of the chief executive of our nation is but a confirmation of the experiences of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in the conduct of its business.

The problems of distribution are of paramount importance and in effecting this distribution, good roads are a primary essential.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has in operation more than 4000 motor trucks engaged in distributing gasoline, kerosene, and lubricating oils to ultimate consumers in 11 Middle Western States. It is the business of this department to attempt to furnish Standard Oil products to whoever may require them, wherever he may live.

To supplement the tank wagon, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) maintains a net work of service stations, located on the main traveled highways, every few miles in the country and every few blocks in the city.

Through its highly specialized organization, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) manufactures from crude petroleum the three factors necessary to a solution of the problems of distribution.

Stanolind Paving Asphalt for good roads—enduring roads.

Red Crown, the high-grade gasoline, for power—tremendous power.

Polarine, the perfect motor oil, for lubrication—correct lubrication.

In the manufacture of these products, the Company has set as a measure of value specifications which it believes insure the user the utmost of service at a minimum of expense. Its products are made to exact standards, and these standards are based upon a careful, exhaustive study of the conditions under which they will be used. All are uniform in quality and go to the consumer with the Company's guarantee that they are exactly as represented.

DEPRESSION NOT DUE TO NEW RAIL RATES, IS CLAIM

A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.
Washington, D. C., July 4.—(Special.)—A review of the investigation of the railroad situation by the senate committee on interstate commerce, which began May 10, and which has been suspended until the latter part of August, discloses that the railroads have failed to establish conclusively the causes for their poor financial standing in the last year and the impossibility of effecting general reductions in freight rates and passenger fares until their earnings have been substantially increased by a general resumption of business.

Points Stressed by Roads.
The case submitted by the railroads was predicated on the following underlying contentions:

1. That the increases in freight rates and passenger charges authorized by the interstate commerce commission in July, 1920, were not responsible for the general business depression.
2. That costs of operation, due to increased wages, increased prices for materials and supplies, and inefficiency on the part of labor, were thrown out of their normal relation to revenues.
3. That the general business depression hit the railroads just as it did every other business.

Depression Held Inevitable.
Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the executive committee of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific, answering the charge that high freight rates and passenger fares were one of the chief causes of the business depression, declared there was the strongest reason to believe that the great reduction in traffic has been due almost entirely to general business conditions, worldwide in their effect, which would have come if there had been no advance in freight rates.
"While admitting the possibility that some rates may be too high and on proof might be reduced," Chairman Kruttschnitt said, "any horizontal reduction in rates in the present plight of the railroads is indefensible and impossible until operating costs shall have been reduced sufficiently to insure adequate and steady net income."

Can't Blame Higher Rates.
W. H. Williams, vice president of the Delaware and Hudson, and chairman of the Wabash railroad, said the increase in freight rates had had no appreciable effect on the volume of business and apparently only a slight effect on the cost of commodities. He attributed the decline in traffic in the early part of 1921 to the fact that great reserves of commodities had been built up.

Statistics submitted by the railroads on costs of operation showed the wage bill of 1920 to be $3,695,316,351; in 1919, $2,845,129,432; in 1918, $3,613,515,851; in 1917, $1,739,482,142; and in 1916, $1,469,576,394.

The wage bill in 1920 exceeded the total operating revenues of the carriers in 1916, when revenues totaled $3,596,865,768.
In 1920, 1 cent out of each dollar of revenue was left for return on investment, as compared with 8.3 cents in 1919; 13.1 cents in 1918; 23.3 cents in 1917, and 28.9 cents in 1916.
Labor took 59.9 cents of each dollar of revenue in 1920, as compared with 49.8 cents in 1914. Materials, supplies, and miscellaneous took 17.3 cents, as compared with 12.5 cents in 1914.

The railway executives asked no remedial legislation, saying the transportation act provides effective machinery for remedying, in so far as it may be done by national legislation, the difficulties in which the railroads find themselves.

The National Association of Owners of Railroad Securities, representing holders of approximately $11,000,000,000 of railroad securities—principally bonds—more than half of the value of the railroads, however, urged the committee to enact two bills, one providing for federal incorporation of the national railway service corporation, and the other to create group railway boards and a national railway service board, to be used as agencies of the interstate commerce commission for effecting economies in railway operation.

OIL MAN IS ARRESTED.
Memphis, Tenn., July 4.—J. H. Bradley, an oil operator, has been arrested here on a fugitive warrant charging embezzlement sworn out in Fort Worth, Tex., by Mrs. Dorothy Perry, who, according to advice, accuses Bradley of embezzling a sum of money entrusted to him for investment.

STATE CALLS 40 NEW WITNESSES FOR BALL TRIAL

The state has prepared a list of forty new witnesses to be sprung as a surprise on the defense at the baseball scandal trial before Judge Hugo Friend in the Criminal courts building this morning. One of the forty will be Ring Lardner, the humorist.

It is probable the jury impaneled when the case first came to a hearing last Thursday will be dismissed by the court, as the jury was placed in the jury box at the time so the trial would start in June, according to schedule.
A special venire of 100 men has been selected, and today will be subjected to examination.
Scores of detectives for the state have been searching the country for the man or men believed to be the master minds who engineered the baseball "conspiracy."

So far the state has been unable to learn the names of the alleged principals who conceived the plot of throwing the 1919 world's series game, which led to the indictment of eighteen ball players and alleged gamblers.

The nature of Ring Lardner's testimony is being kept secret by the attorneys for the state. A large crowd is expected to be in attendance when he takes the witness stand.
Unless Judge Hugo Friend rules in favor of a motion filed by Attorney Henry A. Berger to quash the indictments the trial will proceed as scheduled. Should the court rule favorably on this motion, the state will have to abandon the main indictment, charging conspiracy on twelve counts.

Among other important witnesses for the state are William "Bill" Burns, pitcher; Joe Gedeon, second baseman, and William Mahard, alleged gambler, of Philadelphia.
The defendants will be represented by Attorneys Thomas D. Nash, Michael Ahearn and former Assistant State's Attorney Benedict J. Short, Berger, James C. "Ropes" O'Brien and John Pryzanski.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Your Two Best Friends

Calumet Baking Powder is the friend of millions of housewives; it is your friend because it helps you in many ways on bake-day.

It makes you sure of bakings that are absolutely pure and wholesome; contains only such ingredients as have been officially endorsed by the U. S. Food Authorities.

It helps you reduce baking expenses because it contains more than ordinary leavening strength. It costs less—you use less.

Calumet is a true friend because it never causes you any worry about baking results. You know positively, that when you use it your bakings will be sweet, palatable and nourishing.

Calumet is your friend because it is always the same—the quality never varies. The last spoonful is the same as the first—pure in the can—pure in the baking.

Best by Test. One trial will convince you.

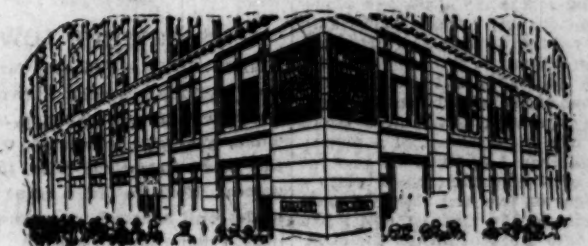

The Calumet Kid is the emblem of quality and economy in baking powder.

He represents the baking powder that is made in the world's largest and most sanitary baking powder factories—that received the highest awards, World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago—Paris Exposition, Paris, France.

Whenever you see the Calumet Kid, think of the biggest selling brand of baking powder in the world—the baking powder that has raised the quality and lowered the cost of bakings for over thirty years.

It is the life mission of the Calumet Kid to encourage economy—to constantly remind you to use only one level teaspoonful to the cup of sifted flour.

He will help you solve your baking problems by sending you a beautiful cook book—illustrated in colors—containing hundreds of new worth while recipes. Full instructions for writing him for this book, will be found on the slip in the one pound can of Calumet Baking Powder.

Courtney Ryley Cooper's name is becoming one to reckon with in the annals of short fiction. His magazine story, "Christmas Eve at Pilot Butte," was the material chosen as basis for this latest Harry Carey western.

Perhaps the fact that he is a new papa and hell bent on showing son O. what a while is father, accounts for the unusually good work done by the star. Be it as it may, the de luxe cowboy hero is at his best.

He spends a large part of his time in jail this trip, patiently enduring the routine of the prison garment shop—and all for the love of a girl. A faithful thing, my dear!

Just wait, though! Time shows the martyr things as things are. And then, if you like "westerns" and don't mind a little exaggeration now and then.

A glance at the cast, reveals the fact that Mr. Carey has able support. I'm always pleased to meet Irene Rich and George Seigman, aren't you?

Good story, good acting, good photography, combined, make of "Desperate Trails" a good picture. That is, if you like "westerns" and don't mind a little exaggeration now and then.

Doing a Solo.
Our party of six was dining at a restaurant which featured dancing in connection with the meals. It so happened that only four fitted conveniently at one table, and myself and my partner, whom I was taking out for the first time, found ourselves at a separate table.

In a few moments the orchestra was playing a lively fox trot, and we arose and danced and then returned to our place. We placed our order and were chatting merrily when the music again smote my ears. The spell of dancing was in my blood, and immediately I took my partner and again stepped on the floor in the conscious action of being the first to break the ice. We had taken but three or four when on looking around I glanced at the grinning countenances of our friends, who were seated at a nearby table, and then I turned—it was the custom of the orchestra to play a dance piece or two and then alternate with a solo by the violinist, and I had stepped onto the floor during the opening strains of the solo.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

WORRIED: THE ILLS OF BOTH health and beauty that constipation causes would make a lengthy list that would startle a good many people. They are headache, bad breath, unpleasant body odor, dull eyes, dull skin, and frequently bloated skin; indigestion and a feeling of lassitude, loss of ambition, and so on, and so on. Right now is the time to begin correcting your trouble. I would suggest the yeast treatment, which is quite laxative with most people. Eat a cake a day. Get it fresh, and you can take it right down without water or orange juice. Then make it an inviolable rule to have fresh vegetables and fresh salad every day. Force at least six glasses of water down daily. And go in for some exercise like swimming, walking, golfing, or all.

MRS. J. WALTER CAMP SAYS: "We are all wild animals in a state of captivity. An outdoor man can eat anything which does not eat him first. But it is the captivity and the easily acquired foodstuffs which broaden and thicken us. However, I've got a lot of good information right ready for you telling you what to eat and what not to, and how to shuffle the advice off the cushioned frame by energetic kicks and stretches and turns and bends. Don't delay, for every pound added to what you've got makes just a little more dress goods to buy."

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Many women have whole wardrobes of crêpe Canton, crêpe de chine, georgette, marocain, or one of the dozen variations with the fancy names. Here we find a crêpe de chine model well adapted to summer mornings laid on mountains or seashore. This is a combination of navy blue and white, and it is assisted by tucks and the white piping which follows the neckline. The sleeves, slashed before reaching the tight cuffs, have the full sanction of the mode. As for the neckline, this elliptical, or as it is often called, Florentine finish is used constantly on every manner of frock.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

No Cause for Hurry.

"Dear Miss Blake: Can you come to my rescue? I am in love with a man eight years my senior. I am 21 years of age. Although he has told me that he cares for me, he never asked me to marry him. I know him for a number of years. How can I realize my one desire in life? He is the only one I love or ever shall. Hoping."

"HARRY." "There is something radically wrong with a man's sense of honor when he makes engagements and fails to keep them. Not the trustworthy young man to bank a perfectly good future on."

No Sense of Honor.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 18 years old and have been going with a fellow three years my senior for two years. I love him dearly and I know he loves me. When he makes dates he does not always keep them. Later he gave me a ring, and I have not seen him since. Now, Miss Blake, as you have helped others, I am asking you to help me also. H. F."

She Works Too Fast.

"Dear Miss Blake: Recently I was introduced to a beautiful looking girl. The next day I received a letter from her. It was a regular love letter. What do you make of it, Miss Blake? I knew her one day and she writes me a letter. Is it the way I acted to her that she knows me one day and cares for me? Should I answer?"

Better not, Harry. That's the kind of young lady who is likely to send a gentleman around to call upon you with a summons to appear in a breach of promise suit some day. She works too, too speedily for comfort.

FIELDALE, VIRGINIA

Where Field Quality Towels Are Made

FIELDALE, Virginia, is one of the newest mill community projects of Marshall Field & Company. Although still in an early stage of development, it is an impressive demonstration of the company's determination to realize high merchandising ideals. In a beautiful spot among the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains in southern Virginia, just across the North Carolina boundary from Spray, this community has sprung into being within two years, and its building is progressing at a rapid rate. It is destined to become eventually, one of the unique manufacturing cities of America.

Already three great mills are in operation. Homes have been built accommodating over a thousand people and plans in progress make provision for a population of 10,000. The architecture of the homes is suggestive of a Swiss village.

Many considerations, such as the availability of a very high class of operatives, and supplies of raw materials and coal; convenient and efficient transportation; climate; beauty of physical environment—determined the company in its plan to build an ideal manufacturing community in this locality, unhampered by any of the restrictions which usually, directly or indirectly, hinder quality production.

Fieldale lies in a valley of rare beauty, about 2000 acres in extent, all of it the property of Marshall Field & Company. The hazy peaks of the Blue Ridge stretch near by and are visible to the north and south for a distance of thirty miles. Fieldale is about three miles in its greatest length and one and one-half in width. The Smith River, a picturesque stream, runs its entire length. It is touched by two railroads: the Norfolk & Western, and the Danville & Western, a branch of the Southern System.

The construction of the entire project has been planned by foremost mill and landscape architects. The best ideas in modern city planning and community building are being carried out in its development. Model homes are being built for the operatives. Churches and schools have been completed. Several boarding homes for girls are in operation, and others are planned. A well-equipped Y.M.C.A. and Club House is to be erected for the use of boys and young men. Modern store buildings are in process of construction.

The machinery throughout the Fieldale Mills is of the most advanced type, and is installed in accordance with scientific principles of arrangement, to give a maximum of efficiency and economy in operation, and of quality in production.

BARS RUN UNDER SMALL MACHINE'S O. K.—BRUNDAGE

Attorney General Hits Back at Governor.

There are in Chicago today approximately 4,000 saloons operating under the protection of the political machine from which Gov. Small takes his orders. If that machine wished these places closed all it would have to do would be to issue the necessary order to the police department and they would be closed in fifteen minutes.

This was the reply of Attorney General Edward J. Brundage last night to a statement issued by Gov. Small claiming that he was lax in enforcing the prohibition enforcement and search and seizure acts. Gov. Small issued the statement as a reply to what he termed attacks made upon him by Mr. Brundage because he had "refused to endorse his [Brundage's] efforts to raid the treasury of Illinois and permit him to take from the pockets of the state taxpayers $650,000 to be used for the welfare of the general public and the state at large, but to assist him in building up a powerful, personal political machine."

Small's Attack on Brundage.
"In the attempt to criticize the two certain portions of the Brundage appropriations," the statement reads, "the attorney general is attempting to mislead the public by saying that I have made enforcement of the act impossible, because I vetoed $650,000 appropriated to him for the enforcement of that act."

"I am not afraid of that charge when the facts are known. The law itself places enforcement of the act on the state's attorney of each county. It says in section 26: 'It shall be the duty of the state's attorney of every county diligently to prosecute any and all persons violating any of the provisions of this act in his county and he shall be responsible for the proper enforcement of this act.'"

Offes Springfield Conditions.
"During the last session," Mr. Brundage spent $100,000 given him for enforcement of the search and seizure act. Was that appropriation used for that purpose?"

The answer is best given in an inquiry as to how Mr. Brundage's office performed that duty. And that action is well illustrated by conditions found in the city of Springfield where his office is located.

"Despite the fact that it is openly charged, and not denied, that there are over 100 illicit liquor establishments running wide open within two miles of his office in the city of Springfield, Mr. Brundage has absolutely refused and still refuses to make a single prosecution."

Brundage Not a Policeman, He Says.
Mr. Brundage replied that he was not invested with the powers or duties of a Springfield policeman.

"They have a police department, a state's attorney and Gov. Small himself is vested with power to act in the state capital were he so disposed," he said. "Gov. Small evidently does not know that I have closed more than 400 saloons right here in Chicago through injunction proceedings in the federal courts. As Gov. Small says the law imposes the enforcement of the law upon the state's attorney but when they fail to do their duties I am the one who is called upon to see that they do enforce it."

Gov. Small Goes on to Say that Attorney General Brundage asks for nearly as much money as is required to run the attorney general's office of all the states west of the Mississippi, six times as much as the attorney general of Pennsylvania requires, and seven times as great as the appropriation in Ohio.

Brundage Explains Big Cost.
"Gov. Small really can know but little about the state of Illinois," Mr. Brundage said, "or he would know that in this state the attorney general has much greater power and is invested with duties not imposed upon the attorney general of any other state."

Under the Fergus decision of the Supreme court in 1916. My office has to handle all the work of the various state boards. Besides, there are new laws which we have to carry out."

Find Oil in Yukon; Will Not Freeze in Winter
 Dawson, Y. T., July 4.—Oil struck in the northern region is of such high grade that it does not freeze last winter, even when the atmosphere was 10 degrees below zero, according to a party of several prospectors headed by James MacDonald, which left here today for Edmonton, to record claims.

The oil when exposed to the air formed like water, the prospectors reported, and this, they declared, indicated that a pipe line to the coast would be feasible.

A-SUMMER SHOW AT THE GARRICK

BY SHEPPARD BUTLER.

THE second act of "Up in the Clouds" is its salvation.

During the first part of last night's proceedings at the Garrick the play, suffering from an overdose of plot, showed signs of talking itself to death. It was a case of too many actors with too much on their minds.

But with the second rise of the curtain for the time being, ceased from troubling, and the singers and dancers had a chance. Thereupon things took a change for the better. The entertainment became frothy, as becomes a summer diversion on a hot night. In the language of Randolph street, it showed some speed.

The play, as becomes a summer diversion on a hot night. In the language of Randolph street, it showed some speed.

It had, first, a Ballet of Wealth, with girls, mostly pretty, bedecked to represent nickels and dimes and such, and a young man named Arthur Coffey, clad in gold paint, capering in an amazing dance. We had an undress parade which outdared the Folies, set to a spirited rousing of "How Dry I Am."

So we were permitted to forget the intricacies of the plot, which was just as well, for it clogged things considerably at the start. Evidently they have taken a hackneyed musical play, and the need of fixing it up, and applied the fixings where it was thought they would do the most good.

Movies and high finance are the theme of the fable—something about a film venture backed by a noble youth who goes broke and is saved from disaster by a famous darling of the screen, masquerading as a novice to get the goods on rascally directors who prey on the unsophisticated. There are the familiar travesties on the over-actors of film, dances performed before the comic camera man, and immediately thereafter burlesqued by said camera man and his grotesque old maid vis-a-vis; dependable wheezes you've always laughed at and whizzes you've always laughed at and whizzes you've always laughed at.

"Don't you think my flowers are beautiful?" asks the comedienne. "Beautiful!" returns Mr. Skeet Gallagher, the funny camera man. "You look like a well kept grave."

So it goes.
This Mr. Gallagher is a genial young smart-aleck whom you may like, though he seems a bit surburban. But you will, I think, have no doubts about Miss O'Hearn, who sings the Betty Ross song and who dominates things in the rôle of the incognito movie queen. She is quiet, demure, reticent, charming—and not a beauty, which, all in all, is something of an achievement.

The rest are amply efficient, though they have too much to say, and, on the distasteful side, highly decorative in some instances when they get into the trapings of the lugged-in but welcome extravaganza. In particular I remember Miss Florence Hedges as a dusky, mite of femininity with cute legs. I should like to be able to name the dancer who did a marvelous dervish whirl in the first act, but on this point the program is not illuminating.

BATHER'S AUTO DRESSING ROOM AND CLOTHES FLIT

Ike Sokolow of 2054 Pearce street drove down to Wilson beach yesterday, disrobed in his car, and entered the aqua. There he splashed and kicked Lake Michigan, garnered the sunbathers in his cuticle, and observed the eternal feminine in her beachly aspects.

"Poor devil!" Mr. Sokolow seemed to be saying. "They undress in the squalid precincts of the public bathhouse. They leave their clothes in a common locker. They have no upholstered thirty-five horse power dressing room like mine."

When he returned to the street a great truth smote him. His auto had been stolen. With it had gone his shirt, and his socks. And his shoes. And his breeches.

Mr. Sokolow, clad in a bathing suit, made the long voyage to the Town Hall station to report the theft of his garters and that went with them.

"It was the dirtiest trick I ever heard of," he told the desk sergeant, "picking such a hot day as this to make me walk."

"You ought to try the bathhouse next time," returned the latter. "There hasn't been a single one stolen this year."

CARPENTERS ON JOB TODAY; WAY OPEN FOR LANDIS

Judge Can Now Decide on Other Building Trades.

All of the building carpenters will return to work today and the track now is clear for Judge Landis, arbitrator in the building wage controversy, to hand down his decision. This decision is looked for early this week.

Last week Judge Landis announced he would be unable to pass upon the wage question, much less that of working rules, until all proposed agreements acceptable to both employer and employee were before him. These tentative agreements are now in his possession.

A copy of the proposed agreement between the Associated Builders and the Carpenters District council was given the judge early last week. It was stated the paper was presented merely for his information and in power made the carpenters a party to the arbitration. The carpenters have a rule forbidding them to accept mediation through a third party, and they voted against accepting Judge Landis' decision, either as to wages or working conditions.

Landis Holds at Plan.
The wage question was solved in the proposed agreement by inserting a clause stipulating that the minimum wage for carpenters for the ensuing year should be the maximum wage awarded any of the basic trades. Judge Landis took exception to this portion of the agreement as establishing a preferential rate for carpenters, and also to another provision obliging the carpenters to abide by decisions of the national board of jurisdictional awards only from such time as the national union should again become affiliated with that permanent arbitration body.

The judge pointed out that the carpenters' refusal to abide by decisions of the national board, which all of the other parties before him have agreed to accept, was indicative of future trouble. He urged that further negotiations be held between the Associated Builders and the carpenters at which the two objectionable features should be given consideration.

Cut Loose from Judge.
Instead of entering into negotiations with a view of revising the proposed agreement, the carpenters on Saturday night voted to submit it to a referendum in the original form, the poll to be completed July 16. As the agreement does not contain the provision excluding nonunion made materials, only the building construction carpenters will vote on it. The carpenters in the mills naturally would be opposed to it.

Their decision to take this action and to return to work today pending the voting cuts them off from all connection with the proceedings before Judge Landis with the result that the way is open for him to pass on the questions for the other trades.

MALATO TO QUIT AS PROSECUTOR ABOUT SEPT. 1

Special Prosecutor Stephen A. Malato will leave the employ of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe about Sept. 1. This learned building construction expert, Mr. Malato has handled many important prosecutions, but is anxious to return to private practice and again assume charge of the law firm bearing his name.

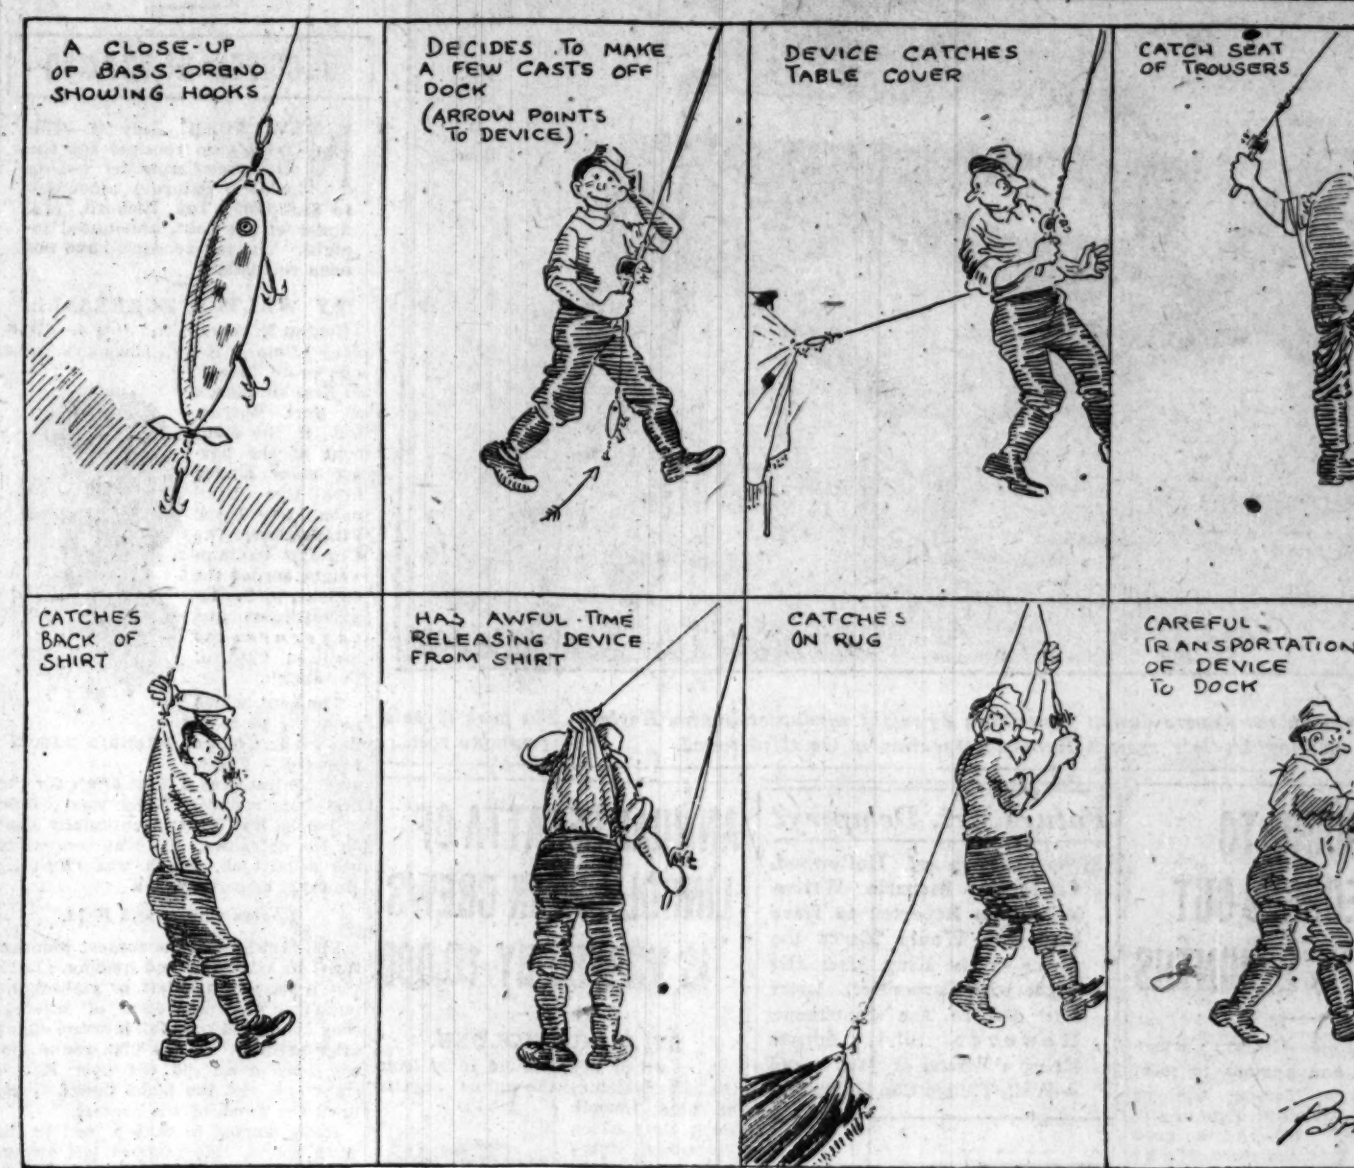

It is said Mr. Crowe has asked him to continue with the county until Sept. 4, so that he can fight the insanity proceedings now pending in behalf of Eugene Geary and Harry Ward, the "Lone Wolf" bandit.

Mr. Malato successfully combated the insanity plea of Carl Wanderer.

Slayer of J. M. Shanahan Nabbed; Blames 'Bullies'

William C. Klassen of 649 West 43d street, wanted for the fatal shooting of Joseph M. Shanahan Sunday morning, was arrested last night by Lieut. James Fleming and Policeman Charles Keith. He admitted firing the revolver, but said he did so only when half a dozen men "who were always bullying him" began to hit him. Then he fired into the crowd and the bullets happened to hit Shanahan.

MOVIE OF A MAN WITH A BASS-CATCHING DEVICE

MEN ARE LIKE THAT

BY CLARA E. LAUGHLIN

"I'D LET SALLIE DECIDE."
Jim was mad—"fighting mad."

"You're not going to let her get away with it, are you?" he demanded of Justus, when told about Linda's plan to get herself to London in spite of all objections.

"Not if I can help it," Justus replied. "Well, I don't want to seem officious," Jim declared, "but if you can't help it, I can, and will!"

He had explained to Justus, over the phone, that he and Sallie had a luncheon engagement and were going for a country ride. "But I'll get away a half hour earlier, and meet you at the Wolcott."

"What do you propose?" Justus asked, when Jim said he would and would defend Linda's purpose.

"I don't know until I talk with Sallie," Jim answered. "But I'll certainly go the limit before I see her lose out on this thing. She was game. She made her stand. It was right, and I'm not going to have her bluffed out of it. You know what Linda's grief amounts to. But she'll play it to overcome opposition, and demand consideration for it, as if it was the profoundest affliction in the world. Sallie was getting up some good, healthy spunk to resist selfishness. But she may melt if she can be made to think she ought to in sympathy."

"Sallie knows how to size up Linda," Justus averred. "I think she does. I know you've helped her to—helped her a whole lot. But you know what the pressure can be from that quarter, and how hard it is to resist. I never saw anything like it! You win out in one struggle, and before you've got your breath back they're at it again. Now you're going back west, and they'll begin wearing Sallie out in the same old way. Suppose she were—well, more than willing; suppose she felt that it would be a help to her if we were married right now, secretly, if that seems best—and she went on with all her present plans just the same. What would you think of that?"

Justus considered. "I believe I'd think well of it," he answered. "There are reasons I can see why the other plan might be better for you both; and there are reasons why it might not be so good. I'd let Sallie decide. Do you suppose you could keep it out of the papers?"

"That's it," said Jim. "I don't know. If they got it it might spoil everything for Sallie. And I wouldn't have that happen for the world."

"Go get her, then," Justus said. "Trash it all out with her and let me know what she decides. Grandma and I will be in a great state of excitement until we know."

The Question.
What do you think of Postmaster General Hayes' plan to encourage postal savings accounts?

Where Asked.
Lincoln park.

The Answers.
Jack Brooker, motorcycle police, Lincoln park—"It's a good thing. As he says, there is a billion dollars hidden in the 'old sock' and other places where it will do nobody any good. What the country needs is to have that billion in circulation."

Mrs. J. A. Koehler, housewife, 801 Highland avenue, Oak Park—"It would be fine to open up more postal banks because a lot of the people would put their money in the hands of Uncle Sam. They would then be absolutely sure of its safety."

W. L. Scott, 2336 North Clark street, chef—"It would not only get the money in circulation but it would add a lot in bringing about a feeling of financial security throughout the United States—and that is sadly needed just now."

Mrs. C. Kresler, Berwyn, Ill., housewife—"I think the postmaster general expressed himself in very clear and simple language. He stated a vital need, that of putting more money into circulation, and gave a common sense solution of the problem."

Gilbert Welner, 4514 North Sawyer, salesman—"It's a good thing, perhaps, but it would affect a lot of the other banks, don't you think? Of course getting out of pawn, so to speak, and into the light of day, is the big thing."

ICE CREAM AND CONES' PRICES POOLE'S TARGET

Expert on Hi Costs Finds Public Pays Too Much.

Ice cream in all its forms is riding for a fall and Russell J. Poole, city hi cost bombardier, announced a campaign yesterday to push the hot weather food from its wartime position.

The present prices of sodas, sodas, cones and ice cream in bulk and in bricks "are not in accord with the cost of production and the trend of the times," Mr. Poole declared in his initial announcement.

"Ice cream vendors, wholesale and retail, are reaping a big harvest as a result of the early arrival of hot weather. With the ingredients of ice cream, sodas and sodas costing much less than they did in 1919 and 1920, prices remain at the wartime level."

Sees Plot to Fleece Public.
"Unless there is a general drop to 50 cents a quart for ice cream, a nickel for cones, and 15 cents for sodas and sodas including war tax, proof will be forthcoming that the manufacturers and retailers are in cahoots to rob a sweetening public."

The milk that is going into ice cream is costing only 32 cents a gallon, Mr. Poole said. This is near the pre-war level. Sugar, the chief ingredient of plain syrups, is 5 cents a pound. That makes its cost less than one-third what it was when confectioners shot soda prices to 22 and 27 cents two years ago.

The official statistician of the New York board of health estimates the cost of a plain soda at .044 cent. Adding as much as 3 cents for a cup and especially good fruit sirup, the cost is only 7 cents. In New York campaign for 11 cent sodas is in full swing.

"A plain soda can be put out at a good profit at 11 cents. However, when good fruits are used a price of 15 cents, including war tax, seems justifiable to me," Mr. Poole said.

Sodas 35 Cents in Some Places.
"Some loop places are charging as high as 35 cents for a crushed raspberry soda. Twenty-two cents is the average soda price and it is at least 7 cents too high. A drop to 15 cents, with the tax paid, will result in a rush of business which will make up for smaller profits."

"The poor kid or the rich kid who pays a dime for an ice cream cone is getting 'gypped' out of at least 5 cents on every cone he buys at that price. The child is getting about 1 1/2 cents' worth of ice cream. That leaves the retailer in the neighborhood of 8 1/2 cents with which to pay his war tax."

"Places which are charging 22 cents for an ice cream soda are getting eighty-four servings out of a gallon of commercial ice cream, which today costs from $1.10 to $1.20."

"There is keen competition among the wholesalers, and I am informed that in some localities ice cream is sold as low as $1 a gallon. I consider that a fair price by the manufacturer."

A survey of Mr. Poole's investigators shows that ice cream of the same manufacturer, same brand and same wholesale price, is retailing in different sections of the city at anywhere from 50 cents to $1 a quart. Ice cream cones are selling at from 5 to 11 cents.

SOME OF SMALL'S FRIENDS AGAIN EXTRA SESSION

Springfield, Ill., July 4.—[Special.]—Some of Gov. Small's strongest district lieutenants have advised him that to call a special session this fall to consider the Chicago traction district bill is little removed from political suicide for the state administration.

They have told him it will be an impossibility for them to deliver enough members of the legislature, either in senate or house, to put over Mayor Thompson's bill and that it is ridiculous to think there is any chance to land through the bill that would smash state civil service. They have shown him "convulsively" the 56 votes mustered for the civil service killer in the highest vote obtainable for that measure.

They have told him the state tax commission bill, whereby the state's assessing and tax levying system was to have been thrown into the hands of a Chicago controlled commission cannot be passed, under any circumstances.

Fire Lieutenant Killed Answering False Alarm

Lieut. Garrett Heffernan of squad No. 8 of the Nineteenth battalion of the fire department was fatally injured last night when the fire truck on which he was riding struck the curb as it turned into 29th street from Canal street on the way to a fire at 29th and Wallace streets. The call was a false alarm.

When the truck struck the curb Lieut. Heffernan was thrown against a telephone pole and crushed between the truck and the pole. His back was broken and he suffered internal injuries. He died soon afterward in Mercy hospital.

Lieut. Heffernan leaves a widow and three children. His home is at 6623 South Union avenue.

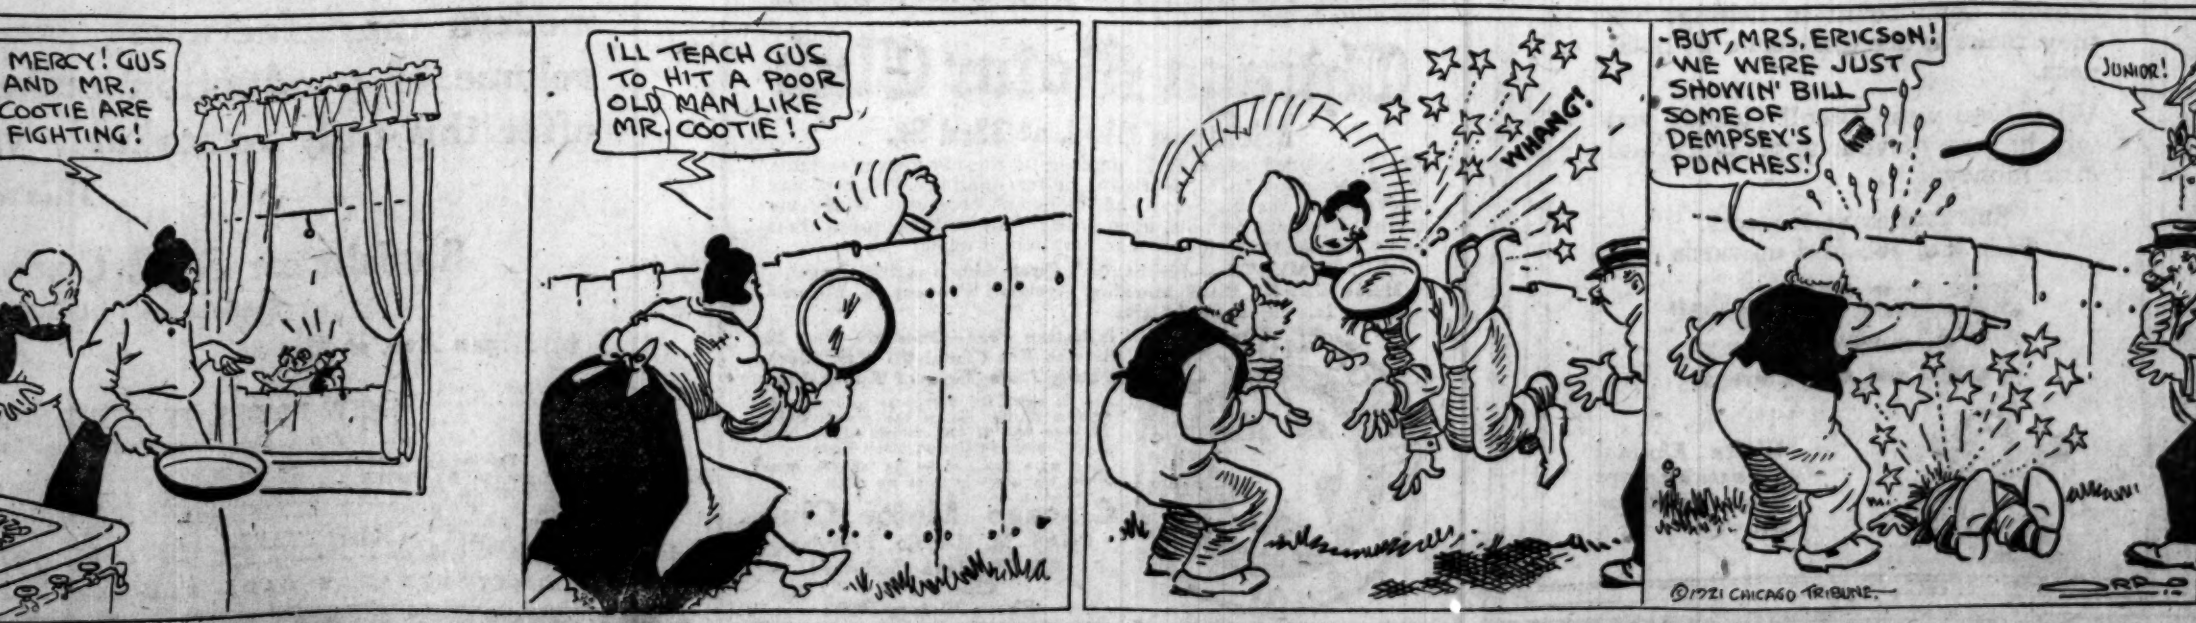

Fear Evanston Youth Has Amnesia Attack

New York, July 4.—[Special.]—A search of practically every hospital and morgue has failed to reveal a trace of Seymour Grenelle, 24, who disappeared June 28 from the West Side Y. M. C. A., where, for two months, he had been promotor secretary of the educational department.

As soon as his disappearance was made known to his father, who had come here from Evanston, Ill., the latter asked the police to join in the search.

At first the elder Grenelle supposed his son had met with foul play, but tonight he said Seymour might have suffered an attack of amnesia.

Notes

CINCINNATI again today.

The Cubs leave for their second eastern trip tonight.

Killebrew had a great morning with the stick, reeling off four safeties, including a double, in the four times he faced Luque.

Killebrew made a difficult catch of a high liner from Neale's bat in the ninth of the morning game and stopped the Red batting rally by doubling Roush unassisted.

Martin was penalized with only one base on balls, although he gave two to them. The one issued to Neale was wiped out because it was Duncan's turn to bat.

Alexander made his own game easier in the afternoon by coming out two singles and a double in four chances. He hit a long fly to Roush the other time.

Crane was hit in the head by a nasty boomer in the seventh of the afternoon game, but suffered no permanent injury.

Neale closed the eighth of the afternoon with a great catch which stole a long hit from Grimes.

AMERICAN GIANTS DROP TWO TILTS TO KANSAS CITY

Kansas City Monarchs grabbed two victories from American Giants in the second of their series here today.

Schilling's park yesterday. The invaders converted three hits into four runs and won the morning pastime, 4 to 2, by a ninth inning rally.

In the afternoon, Kansas City soaked both Johnson and Starks for a 10 to 1 victory.

YANKS TAKE SEVENTH STRAIGHT BY BEATING MACKS, 6-4 AND 14-4

New York, July 4.—The New York Yankees defeated Philadelphia twice this afternoon, 6 to 4 and 14 to 4, bringing the Yankees' winning streak to seven straight games.

Two home runs by Frank Baker with Ruth on base each time carried New York to victory in the first contest, and the Yankees beat the Phillies in the second game.

In both contests, Guy Morton, the Sox were out [TRIBE photo]. In front, but he had no pitching strength to stop the champions. It was rather discouraging for them to drop two in a game after having a two run lead in the seventh, but it was almost inevitable that they could lose in the afternoon when they had a lead of nine runs in the third.

Sox Routed Bagby, Caldwell.

The Sox routed twice in the first inning in the afternoon and then belted in eight runs in the second, knocking Jim Bagby and Ray Caldwell off the rubber. Guy Morton came forth and stopped the Sox and blanked Cleveland for the balance of the game.

Edwards and Weneke bled in the morning against Upton, Morton and Malt. With good support Twombly perhaps would have won handily. Johnny Mostil stumbled at a critical time and the game was lost.

The Sox then pined in the seventh inning, when the Gleasons were leading 4 to 2. Weneke began by passing Johnston. Nunamaker died out, and Morton, who looked helpless, delivered a bouncer that scored Johnston.

Jameson got a double on a fly to right, but Morton went only to the second because it looked as if the ball might be caught. Evans went out to run for Morton, then pined, and just before Mostil reached it, he stumbled and went sprawling. It went for a double that scored Evans and Jameson. The Sox then pined, and Weneke and the game was clinched.

Hits by Mulligan and Strunk got a run for the Sox in the first. Mostil

HAYES CLEANS UP IN FINAL PLAY FOR NET TITLES

BY GEORGE SHAFER.

Playing tennis which for steadiness, effectiveness, and placing ability matched any of his career as a star, Walter T. Hayes of Chicago captured the men's national clay court singles championship at Chicago Tennis club yesterday and paired with Clifford B. Herd, the former Pasadena champion, to emerge as the tournament as doubles champion.

The play was waged under a scorching sun, which slowed all contestants of the day. Hayes weathered the darts of old Sol better than any of the finalists. In the singles, his opponent, Squair, was clearly out of his element. Hayes' steady shooting and invincible defense brought his test through many of the bitter rallies which marked the second and third sets.

1920 Champs Not Represented.

Neither of the men's clay court champions of 1920—Roland Roberts of San Francisco in singles and Roberts and Vincent Richards of New York in doubles—defended their titles.

The play was waged under a scorching sun, which slowed all contestants of the day. Hayes weathered the darts of old Sol better than any of the finalists. In the singles, his opponent, Squair, was clearly out of his element. Hayes' steady shooting and invincible defense brought his test through many of the bitter rallies which marked the second and third sets.

In the second set, Squair managed to break to the net occasionally, although he always took a chance of the veteran's placing the ball dead at his feet in running up. When Squair did reach the barrier, his net game was as strong as Hayes' driving tactics, and they battled evenly.

Retrieves Countless Shots.

Squair played more strongly in the third set, and began to get his cross court shots placed where they gave Hayes some trouble, but the lanky artist retrieved countless shots then gradually beat the loser out of position and into errors. The point summary:

FIRST SET.
Hayes..... 4 2 5 4 3-18
Squair..... 2 3 1 4 2-10

SECOND SET.
Hayes..... 2 4 4 1 4 4-29
Squair..... 4 4 3 2 0-11

THIRD SET.
Hayes..... 1 4 2 4 2 4 4 4-33
Squair..... 4 2 4 2 4 2 0-11

Total—Hayes, 90 points and 18 games; Squair, 55 points and 6 games.

Breaks Against Hoosiers.

All the breaks of luck went against the Indianapolis pair in the doubles final, but despite the ten or twelve points they lost in this way the margin of Hayes and Herd was a clear one. Hayes was the staunchest of the four players, although Burdick's overwork provided many pretty points for the losers. Hennessey proved the weakest of the four and Hayes and Herd directed their shots against him. The Indianapolis pair was denied the chance to play the net game—Burdick's forte—most of the time, for Hayes and Herd pushed them to the back court by stinging drives, and then took the net themselves. Herd contributed several service aces.

Old Man Regularly.

In the second and third sets Burdick and Hennessey fought bitterly and won on the verge of winning game after game, only to have a weak return, net or out, or some unlucky occurrence pass the victory to their opponents. In the meanwhile Old Man Regularly Hayes kept his eyes on the drives and volleyed to unprotected spots for the backbones of the winners' attack, and the final result always was in sight. The point summary:

FIRST SET.
Hayes-Herd..... 4 4 1 4 4 4 4 4-31
Burdick-Hennessey..... 2 2 1 4 0 4 2 0-18

SECOND SET.
Hayes-Herd..... 4 4 4 1 1 5 6 4 0 8-46
Burdick-Hennessey..... 1 2 1 1 3 3 1 1 4 0-30

THIRD SET.
Hayes-Herd..... 0 4 1 0 4 2 1 0 8-39
Burdick-Hennessey..... 4 0 1 0 4 2 1 0 8-39

Total—Hayes and Herd, 110 points, 18 games; Burdick and Hennessey, 90 points, 10 games.

PRICES OF STEEL CUT TODAY BY BETHLEHEM CO.

Structural Shapes Among Those Affected.

Bethlehem, Pa., July 4.—The Bethlehem Steel company today announced further reductions in the price of steel, effective tomorrow.

President E. G. Grace said, "present manufacturing costs do not warrant these reductions." He added that the company wants to help bring the steel trade to "a normal basis."

The company recently announced a 15 per cent reduction in wages, effective July 16.

The price cut brings bars, from $12.10 to $11.90; structural shapes, $2.20 to $2.10; plates, $2.20 to $2.10; sheet bar, $3.10 to $3.00; billets, 4x4, from $3.7 to $3.6; slabs, $3.8 to $3.7; blue annealed sheets, $2.85 to $2.75; black sheets, $1.75 to $1.65; galvanized sheets, $4.75 to $4.65; tinplate, $6.25 to $6.15; sleep, $2.20 to $2.10.

"The new prices represent a reduction of $4 a ton on bars, structural shapes, plates, slabs, sheet bar, slabs and blue annealed sheets, $5 a ton on black and galvanized sheets, $10 per ton on tinplate," Mr. Grace said.

He explained prices had not been reduced to pre-war levels because of increased freight rates and costs of material and labor.

"These items account for an increase in present day costs over pre-war costs of $20.59 per ton on finished products," he added. "The new price of $4.65 for structural steel is equivalent to a pre-war price of $24.21 per ton, or 1.08 cents per pound."

Utah Desert to Blossom
Like a Rose by New Plan

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 4.—The Bonneville Irrigation project, which will benefit several thousand acres in Davis county, near Salt Lake City, and which involved a cost of $750,000, became a reality today when Gov. Mahoney turned an electric switch which caused the working of four large pumps, resulting in a flow of water equal to 3,168 gallons a minute.

Ohio Traction Arbiters

Cut Wages 25 Per Cent

Wages of trainmen on city and inter-urban railway lines of the Northern Ohio Traction and Light company have been reduced approximately 25 per cent as the result of a decision just rendered by a board of arbitrators. Upon expiration of the wage agreement on May 1 the company proposed a new scale based upon reduced cost of living and prevailing wages paid for similar classes of service. After various conferences and an intensive study of existing conditions the board finally has made known its decision, which results in a slightly larger wage reduction than that contained in the company's original proposal. More than 800 trainmen are affected by the decision.

Business Convalescence

Today, no matter where you go, manufacturers and wholesalers tell you that the crisis in their commercial affairs has been passed. Their business may not be big enough to boast about; but it is steadily getting better!

Folks aren't talking so much; they're getting to work. Business men are finding and creating new markets for their goods. Their salesmen are really selling. Everybody is plugging; business is indeed on the up grade.

What's more, prudent executives, while concentrating their efforts on sales, are taking protective measures to insure payment on those sales! They are realizing that in any emergency of credit accounts, there is nothing so strong or so safe as the American's Policy of Credit Insurance, which guarantees to prevent, else pay, bad debt losses beyond the normal. When You Buy Bonds You Want to Know—

1. Will they be paid when due?

For this information you must largely depend upon your banker or broker who should be familiar with the security involved.

We offer for sale securities in which we have invested our own money.

2. What is the interest yield?

The selling price influences the yield. If the rate is unusually high or the price unusually low it may be that competitive conditions in the money market do not govern, and that the risk is large.

We study conditions constantly.

3. Are they marketable?

A man experienced in business will seldom buy securities which he must carry to maturity because there is no market for them. He wants to be sure that he can sell them at any time at a fair price.

4. Are they good collateral?

Will your bank accept them as security if you want to borrow? Banks cannot afford to loan money on unsalable securities.

In considering your investments you are cordially invited to make use of all the facilities of our well equipped and conveniently located Bond Department.

Eight Per Cent for 20 Years Pledged by the French Republic

It is the tradition of the French people to "come back"; precedent shows them to have recovered from the shock of every war—even in defeat; current figures establish their certain ability to return their country to normal under the impetus of victory.

Increase in French credits in the markets of the world have already permitted the liquidation of over $500,000,000 of foreign debt.

We consider the 20-year 7 3/4% External Gold Loan of the French Republic adequately secured as to principal and interest. Offered at 95, and being not subject to redemption prior to its maturity in 1941, it is, in our opinion, a Government obligation of the soundest sort.

ARE YOU PROTECTED AGAINST STRIKES?

IN these times strikes are very prevalent. They curtail production, disrupt business conditions and unsettle credits, making payments slow and uncertain.

Many of your accounts—good in normal times—are liable, under present conditions, to be questionable. Why gamble with them? Why not insure and get absolute protection in a "LONDON" Credit Insurance Policy?

We can write a policy to fit your specific requirements. With our policies to protect you, you know when you get your money on failed accounts. Asking for particulars does not obligate you.

The Purchasing Power of Today's Investment

The income from a first class Bond or Note is the same today as it was a year ago. But the purchasing power of that income has increased from 10% to 75% depending upon what commodities are bought with it. When commodity prices drop bond prices rise. It is an economic law as inexorable as the law of gravity.

Bonds are on the uptrend now—commodity prices are still falling, and authorities agree will continue their downward trend for some time. Investors everywhere are taking advantage of this golden opportunity for no one knows how long it will last.

FACTIONAL TILTS SLOW RAILROAD UNION DECISION

Policy to Be Formulated
by 1,500 Today.

Renewal of factional differences yesterday prevented railway labor representatives from agreeing on a plan of procedure they had hoped to announce at the close of the afternoon meeting. The conference, which has been in progress since last Friday, and which has been attended by about 1,500 union leaders, will be resumed today.

Concerning proceedings of the closed meetings those in attendance were reticent as to details. Several have admitted there were some lively tilts between radicals and conservatives, with the latter apparently well in control of the situation.

Look for Agreement Today.

Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said he believed the big brotherhoods would agree on policy at today's sessions.

"But," he added, "I thought last night we should have a statement of our plan ready today. So the unreliability of predictions as to what so many men will do is apparent."

The transportation groups—the brotherhood representatives—met in joint session at the Oriental Congress yesterday. Various other sectional meetings were held, including those of the telegraphers and the others and stationary engineers.

Chief Executives Meet.

In the evening the chief executives of the sixteen leading rail organizations were in session at the Great Northern. They received reports of the day's conferences and submitted recommendations designed to facilitate an early agreement.

While declining to be quoted, two influential union chiefs reiterated assurances that the possibility of a strike as a protest against the United States railroad labor board were regarded as more than remote.

Ford Plant, in 'High,' Puts Out 108,962 Autos for June

Detroit, Mich., July 4.—[Special.]—A new high record for production in one month was reached by the Ford Motor company in June, the total cars and trucks being 108,962, a statement by the company says.

During April, May, and June the production of Ford cars and trucks was 301,786, an increase of more than 80,000 over a year ago.

The July schedule calls for an output of 169,000 cars and trucks. A car or truck will leave the assembly line every 6 1/2 seconds, if this schedule is maintained—a production of 4,360 cars a day.

Borden Company.
T. T. Wheeling, W. Va.—The Borden company had $1,500,000 of preferred stock and $21,368,100 of common outstanding at last accounts. In 1920 it earned 11 per cent on common stock compared with 17 1/2 per cent in 1919. It had paid large dividends for years, but did not publish much information till 1920. Since then it has published complete reports. The preferred dividend of 6 per cent is covered many times over. As there is a good surplus and no funded debt the preferred stock is a sound investment.

Curtis Door and Sash.
H. J. Chilton, Ill.—The Curtis Door and Sash company makes public information only. It is issuing $225,000 of first mortgage serial bonds. The net assets are said to be more than three times the loan and average earnings in the last four years are said to be more than four times the maximum interest. In the absence of complete information a purchase would be based principally on confidence in the house offering the bonds.

Gossard Company.
I. F. P.—The Gossard company showed a large increase in sales last year, also an increase in net profits, $61,927 being earned before allowance for federal taxes. Much of the profit, however, was tied up in increased inventory. Dividend payments on common stock were discontinued in the beginning of this year. Complete information only is available.

Farmers' Sugar Company.
E. P. Q.—The Farmers' Sugar company of Defiance, O., is selling stock to farmers to raise $2,500,000 to build a beet sugar factory. Over $1,500,000 has been subscribed and thus far $100,000 has been spent on the plant. There are several factors in that region, but not enough. It is said to handle all the beets offered.

Brief Answers.
F. E. S.—Bay State Gas is quoted nominally on the Boston curb at 4 1/2 cents bid. S. asked. Whether you can make actual transactions at those prices we do not know. Last January a Philadelphia firm sold 200 shares at auction. The lot brought $11.

C. G. G.—The Orange Crush company declared a quarterly dividend of $2 a share, payable on Dec. 1 last. No report of any later dividend found. A request by telephone for information brought the answer that nobody at the headquarters of the company knew anything about dividends.

B. M.—No recent information is available concerning the Lomax company.

A bond is a promise to pay—backed by the wherewithal to pay that promise.

It is worth more than money—mere currency—in that it can double its own value in less than 17 years.

Our FIRST MORTGAGE GOLD BONDS have more security than just their equal of the debt. We see to that. They have "wherewithal" in solid Real Estate value many per cent greater than the amount of the loan. And this Real Estate is right here in Chicago where you can investigate its worth yourself.

So again they are worth more than the currency in your pocket.

This yield is 100% more than idle money and 100% greater than what you get on savings.

The security is 75% to 150% more than the money represented.

"Business as Usual"

ITS sustained earning power and ability to pay regularly out of earnings make the stock of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company a sound and profitable investment.

The dividend rate has recently been raised from $8 to $9 per year—return on an investment in the Common stock, which is selling at about 103, gives the purchaser about 8 1/2%.

We recommend this stock as a sound and conservative investment and shall be glad to co-operate with you in any desired investigation of its status.

Readjustment of ALLIED PACKERS, INCORPORATED

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned Committee has modified the Plan dated April 11, 1921, and has caused a statement of such modification dated July 1, 1921, to be filed with CENTRAL UNION TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, the Depository, and with FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF PHILADELPHIA, FORT DEARBORN TRUST SAVINGS BANK OF CHICAGO, and FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF BOSTON, the Sub-Depositories. Holders of Certificates of Deposit will be irrevocably bound, and concluded by such modification unless they exercise their right of withdrawal within the period otherwise as provided in said Plan and Agreement dated April 11, 1921. Holders of Certificates of Deposit exercising such right of withdrawal shall not thereafter be entitled to any rights or benefits under said Plan and Agreement.

The modification of the Plan extends the voting rights of the Preferred Stock, limits the authority of the board of directors to declare dividends, other than the cumulative 4% dividend upon the Preferred Stock, provides for the establishment of a sinking fund for the purchase and redemption of the Preferred Stock and postpones payment of part of the 7% dividend upon the Preferred Stock until after the payment of the participating dividend upon the Preferred Stock. Copies of such Modification and of the Plan and Agreement of Readjustment as so modified may be obtained from the Depository and the Sub-Depositories, or from the Secretary of the Committee, and all persons interested are referred to the same for a full and accurate statement of the contents thereof.

The modification of the Plan has been made at the request of the representatives of holders of Debentures, with the assent of the representatives of stock of both classes and upon assurance that additional deposits would be made if and when such modification was effected. There is now on deposit more than 44% of the Debentures, more than 56% of the Preferred Stock, and more than 50% of the Common Stock.

The time for deposit of all classes of securities has been extended until the close of business on JULY 27, 1921.

Dated New York, July 1, 1921.

cial.—In spite of criticism by Secretary of Agriculture and other government officials, the committee on agriculture has reached the senate after hearing weeks before the culture. It gives the proposed corporation the government not only would aid in the export of farm products as a marketing agency. The corporation is to be a farm product abroad and to act as a national organization. The corporation is to be a board consisting of agriculture and trade points. The capital of $100,000, would be treasury. Although Secretary of private business in the bill, Mr. Norris will relieve the both in the United States. $100,000,000 AID FOR FARMERS TO START BATTLE

Hoover Opposes Scheme; Senator Backs It.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Washington, D. C., July 4.—[Special.]—In spite of criticism of the measure by Secretary of Commerce Hoover and other government officials, Senator Norris, chairman of the senate committee on agriculture, intends to force consideration of his bill creating a $100,000,000 corporation to aid the exportation of farm products.

The bill, introduced only a month ago, has reached the calendar of the senate after hearings lasting for two weeks before the committee on agriculture. It gives extensive powers to the proposed corporation. Under its terms the government corporation not only would aid in the financing of exports of farm products but would act as a marketing agency.

The corporation is authorized to purchase farm products and sell them abroad and to act as agent for any person or organization dealing in agricultural products.

The corporation would be managed by a board consisting of the secretary of agriculture and two presidential appointees. The capital stock, totaling $100,000,000, would be subscribed by the treasury.

Although Secretary Hoover declared that the government should stay out of private business activity as proposed in the bill, Mr. Norris insists the measure will relieve the present situation, both in the United States and in Europe. In this opinion, he is supported by Carl Vrooman of Illinois, former assistant secretary of agriculture, and by Herbert Quick of Virginia, a former member of the federal farm loan board.

FIGHT OF WOMEN VS. WOMEN ON AT KABER TRIAL

Cleveland, O., July 4.—[Special.]—The battle of the women begins again here tomorrow.

With four women under indictment for first degree murder, more than twenty women as principal witnesses in the case, and a jury partly composed of women, the trial of Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber for the murder of her husband, Dan Kaber, will be of significance to women all over the country.

The defense lawyers have openly declared that if they are unable to get rid of all the women from the jury they will appeal in an attempt to have women jurors declared unconstitutional.

There are ten women on the second venire of 100 which is called tomorrow. With four women already on the jury, it seems unlikely that the defense will be willing to use fourteen of its sixteen peremptory challenges to obtain a jury of men.

Mrs. Mary Brinkel, mother of Mrs. Kaber and also under indictment for first degree murder, is held at the detention home.

"I do not know anything about what will happen," she said today. "They will ask death punishment for me, my granddaughter, Marian McArdle; the Italian woman, my daughter went to see, and the two Italians who committed the murder. Neither side has told me I am to testify. I do not know."

While She's Away—

Where will you eat? She'll be writing you about the wonderful meals she's enjoying on her vacation—how about you and your meals?

You don't have to suffer from inertia, dyspepsia, and chronic indigestion until the folks return. A Thompson Pure Food Restaurant is the acknowledged Haven for Hungry Husbands. Here's where they first sung, "My Wife's Gone to the Country, Hooray, Hooray!"

Celebrate today with a real, hundred per cent, home-cooked meal. Breakfast, lunch, or supper—you'll always find the menu attractive, and the food as delicious as you'd get in your own home.

Look for this PURE FOOD SIGN—
